ALLIES INVADE EUROPE

WHERE ALLIES STRIKE: Allied invading forces, early today struck along the French coast, and German radios announced landings were under way at Le Havre, and Cherbourg [indicated by arrows].

Pershing Voices Full Confidence In Allied Might

Former AEF Chief Reviews Other War

WASHINGTON [AP] Gen. John J. Pershing, who commanded American armies in France in the World War, issued the following statement following the announcement that a new expeditionary force had landed in France:

"American troops have landed in Western Europe.

"As the overmastering military might of the Allies advances it will be joined by the men of the occupied countries, whose land has been overrun by the enemy but whose spirit remains unconquered.

"Twenty-six years ago American soldiers, in cooperation with their Allies, were locked in mortal combat with the German enemy. Their march of victory was never halted until the enemy laid down his arms in defeat. The American soldier of 1917-1918, fighting in a war of liberation, wrote by his deeds, one of the most glorious pages of military history.

"Today, the sons of American soldiers of 1917-1918 are engaged in a like war of liberation. It is their task to bring freedom to peoples who have been enslaved. I have every confidence that they, together with their gallant brothers-in-arms, will win through to victory."

'Eyes of Entire World Upon You', General Tells Invadiing Troops

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN EUROPE [UP] "The eyes of the world are upon you," the order of the day—issued by Eisenhower personally—said to the troops whose young lives are dedicated to the greatest military attack of all time, the invasion of Europe.

"The hopes and prayers of liberty-loving peoples everywhere march with you.

"You will bring about the destruction of the German war machine the elimination of Nazi tyranny over the oppressed peoples of Europe and security for ourselves in a free world.

"Your task will not be an easy one. Your enemy is well trained, well equipped and battle hardened. He will fight savagely. But this is the year 1944. Much has happened since the Nazi triumphs of 1940-1941. The United Nations have inflicted upon the Germans a great defeat in open battle, man to man. Our air offensive has seriously reduced their strength in the air and their capacity to wage war on the ground.

After the order of the day, came a broadcast by Gen. Eisenhower to the peoples not alone of France, where the first invasion spearheads landed, but to those of all western Europe:

"Peoples of western Europe! A landing was made this morning on the coast of France by troops of the Allied Expeditionary Forces. This landing is part of the United Nations plan for the liberation of Europe, made in conjunction with our great Russian allies."

He said to all, whether their territory was initially involved or not, that the hour of their liberation was approaching, and he asked resistance groups, and all men and women patriots, young and old:

"Follow the instructions you have received."

He asked resistance groups to continue passive resistance but not needlessly to endanger their lives "until I give you the signal to rise and strike the enemy."

Church Bells Sound News Of Invasion

Church bells in Orlando clanged out the grim news that invasion of Nazi held Europe had started shortly after 4 A.M. today. As the bells clanged out their news, Orlandoans were being summoned to churches, to pray for success of the great Allied move to free Europe from the domination of the Nazis.

Signal for the sounding of the church bells was given by The Sentinel after its wire services had brought the flash from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters to the news rooms.

Churches plan to remain open today, to allow the people places for prayer.

Fighters Hit French Coast

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE [Tuesday] [AP] Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today that Allied troops began landing on the northern coast of France this morning strongly supported by naval and air forces.

Text of the communique:

Under the command of Gen. Eisenhower Allied naval forces supported by strong air forces began landing Allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France.

The Germans said the landings extended between Le Havre and Cherbourg along the south side of the Bay of Seine and along the northern Normandy coast.

Parachute troops descended in Normandy, Berlin said.

Berlin first announced the landings in a series of flashes that began about 6:30 A. M. [12:30 A. M. Eastern War Time].

The Allied communique was read over a trans-Atlantic hookup direct from Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters at 3:32 EWT, designated "Communique No. 1."

No other Allied commanders were announced, for the thousands of battle-trained Allied troops, although Gen. Omar Bradley has been in command of American ground forces in England for several months.

Bradley participated in the Tunisian victory.

Thousands of battle-trained American, British and Canadian troops hurled themselves at Hitler's Western defenses after months of preparation.

Huge troopship armadas slipped out of English ports in the darkness and sped toward Europe where four years ago almost to the day Britain brought back the last battle-worn defenders of Dunkirk.

The Germans also declared that Calais and Dunkirk, immediately across the English Channel from Britain, were under heavy air attack.

The German radio gave the first reports of the invasion while correspondents were hurriedly summoned from bed to supreme press headquarters and locked in a press conference room until the communique was released several hours after the landings were made.

It was made known at SHAEF that the supreme command felt it necessary to yield the initiative in the war of words to the Germans in order to retain the initiative on land and keep the German high command in the dark as long as possible.

GREATEST ARMADAS

The great Allied armadas dwarfed anything yet seen on the sea.

Huge transport planes filled with paratroopers and pulling airborne troops in gliders roared over the German westwall to drop their cargos in the rear.

Berlin said that masses of Allied parachute troops bailed out over Normandy, trying to seize airfields.

Just before taking off in the darkness the paratroops were wished Godspeed by the lanky Kansas supreme commander, Gen. Eisenhower.

He was accompanied by several other of his commanders and his face was tense but confident as he strode down the long lines of fighting men.

All night long London and England resounded to the roar of thousands of airplanes, some carrying bombs, some carrying men. Returning RAF bombers met big fleets of Flying Fortresses on their way out.

The forces thrown into operation were by far the greatest ever used in an amphibious operation. They had to be. An estimated million German troops waited in their fortifications for the great onslaught under crack Nazi marshals, Runstedt and Rommel.

It was reported earlier this week that Adolf Hitler himself had a special train ready to rush him to France to take over personal command as he did on the East front.

Despite these reports Allied military men expected Rommel to be the main tactician on German defense but on the Allied side were the team of Eisenhower and Montgomery—the men who chased Rommel from Africa.

Although amphibious attacks are the most difficult in war, a quiet feeling of confidence characterized the Allied generals.

Just what element of surprise, if any, the landing troops achieved was not immediately announced by supreme headquarters. There was no chance to hide the great convoys with only about five hours darkness on the Channel.

On several occasions thousands of troops, even with correspondents aboard, sailed out in great fleets to almost within shell range of German defenses in Europe as though they were going to attack while Nazi reconnaissance planes closely checkeed convoys.

These feints have been carried out on widely separated points.

The supreme command made no bones about its intention to attack but the surprise was that the Germans did not know where the main blow was coming.

In four previous big amphibious landings to date the Allies obtained tactical surprise three times—at Anzio, Sicily, and North Africa. At Salerno the Germans guessed the landing spot and were waiting.

A second announcement by SHAEF said that "it is announced that Gen. B. L. Montgomery is in command of the army group carrying out the assault. This army group includes British, Canadian and U. S. forces."

The Allied bulletin did not say exactly where the invasion was taking place, but Berlin earlier gave these details:

Allied naval forces, including heavy warships, are shelling Le Havre. "It is a terrific bombardment," Berlin said.

Allied parachute troops floating down along the Normandy coast were landing and being engaged by German shock troops.

Other Allied units were streaming ashore into Normandy from landing barges.

In a special order of the day issued to all soldiers, sailors and airmen under his command, Gen. Eisenhower said:

"We will accept nothing except full victory."

DWIGHT EISENHOWER

Quiet, Confident Ike Eisenhower Leader of World's Great Attack

By PAUL KERN LEE
Associated Press Foreign Staff

History's greatest overseas invasion is led by a quiet, methodical American soldier whose professional creed of taking big risks for big stakes is here put to its ultimate test.

As all the world knows, he is Gen. Dwight David Eisenhower, whose phenomenally-rapid rise has been justified by his record in the successful planning and directing of the invasion and conquest of North Africa, of Sicily and the other Central Mediterranean islands, and the invasion of Italy.

Aside from purely military activities, possibly his greatest success has been in getting American, British and French forces to work together as an harmonious team—an accomplishment which made him almost the inevitable choice for supreme Allied commander in the greatest gamble of all—invasion of Europe from the West.

Eisenhower will be 54 years old on Oct. 14, [1944]. War Department records list his birthplace as Tyler, Tex., but family accounts say it was Denison, in the same State. He was reared in Kansas, in and around Abilene, and early won the nickname of ""Ugly Ike" to distinguish him from brothers "Red Ike" and "Little Ike."

Actually, there is nothing ugly about him. A well-built man of medium height [5 feet, 10 inches] he has pale blue eyes, a few remaining strands of pale hair, and a crinkly grin that combine to give him an air of friendly competence.

A 1915 graduate of West Point, he was a tank instructor in the World War, ending up as a temporary Lieutenant Colonel at the age of 28.

He had worked up only to the permanent rank of Lieutenant Colonel when he was named an acting Colonel in March, 1941. Six months later he was named a Brigadier General, six months after that a Major General, four months later a Lieutenant General, and finally, in February, 1943, a full General—five promotions in less than two years.

The North African invasion in November, 1942, was his first operation under fire, but he long had been known inside the army as one of its brains—a soldier's soldier—a man who was willing to take justifiable risks and to accept responsibilities without passing the buck to subordinates.

The name, Eisenhower, is an appropriate one. A legacy from forebears who fled from Germany to Switzerland and to escape persecution in the Seventeenth Century, and who migrated to America about 1750, it originally was spelled "Eisenhauer" — meaning "Iron Striker."

The Iron Striker has summed up his philosophy in these words:

"You can't hit a home run by bunting; you have to step up there and take your cut at the ball."

Last December, when he was appointed to the Supreme Command, he predicted:

"We will win the European war in 1944."

Hitler Prepared For Allied Push

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Supreme Allied Headquarters, England [INS] Under pressure from the German high command which feared an Allied invasion more than Russian advances from the East, Adolf Hitler long ago decreed a radical change in Nazi military policy and began a major shift of German troops to Western Europe.

In addition, Hitler ordered Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels to eliminate any suggestion that Allied invasion plans constitute a gigantic bluff.

From then on, Goebbels trumpeted everywhere that invasion not only was imminent but would be on a gigantic, ruthless scale.

Indications of the extreme importance which the Nazi high command attached to Western Europe were seen in the furious rate of troop transfers despite mounting Russian pressure.

Reliable information available at supreme Allied headquarters shows that crack German units poured into the Lowlands and France, with divisions already on hand, including highly-trained and seasoned "Elite Guards" to serve as shock-absorbers at key points along the channel coast.

The "anti-invasion army" was divided into two separate units. One is the Atlantic command, which is concentrated in areas around Bordeaux, and the other the Northern command, deployed along an 800-mile front from Normandy to the Lowlands.

Reserves are staggered in deep zones behind them, while German air force squadrons in the threatened territory now are believed to total 1,500 operational bombers plus fighter protection.

Twenty-five German divisions are in Italy and another 25 in the Balkans and Aegean area, with five in Denmark and 10 in Norway.

At full strength, a German division usually embraces 16,000 men. But most are believed to average around 12,000 at present.

According to reliable information, German troops in the West are "pretty good," and in any case Allied circles fully anticipate a tough struggle against Hitler's line-up now that the invasion is under way.

Germany itself grimly awaited the assault, and life inside Europe has been ruthlessly stripped down to naked necessities and a generally harsh existence.

Big U. S. Airforce Miracle of Work

America built in about two years the winged fury which has now been flung into support of the Allied invasion.

The speed in assembling such a vast force rivals in awesomeness the aerial might itself, an air force the like of which had not been dreamed before Munich or since, except in the United States.

Hitler smashed into Poland with about 1,500 planes, executed the Norway campaign with fewer than 1,000, and pushed through the Lowlands with something over 3,000.

When it came Hitler's turn to defend, those figures were dwarfed by the Allied armada, a flying fighting force which counted planes by the tens of thousands, planes which could fly faster and hit harder than anything the Nazis ever built, planes which came from 40,000 factories and many millions of workers.

The United States entered the war, as Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the army air forces, said, "with plans but no planes."

Of the 3,000 army airplanes available on Dec. 6, 1941, only 1,157 were suited to combat service. Actually, none of them could stay in the air against 1944 models.

In a matter of hours on Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese reduced our combat-suited aircraft total to 800, and for some time thereafter whittled it down still further before American production began to swing up.

The army's only fighter then in mass production was the P-40 Warhawk, a sturdy plane lacking in performance but which then carried and, in improved models, still carries a sizable responsibility.

Bombing was done principally by the C and D models of the B-17 Flying Fortress, the B-25 Mitchell and the A-20 Havoc. Also in service in small numbers were the B-24 Liberator, the B-26 Marauder and the A-24 Dauntless.

The B-17 had first been flown six years earlier, at about the time work was started on the B-24. Being readied for action at the time of Pearl Harbor were the P-38 Lightning, an extremely versatile, high performance fighter; the P-39 Airacobra, which yielded two years later to a much improved version; the P-47 Thunderbolt, high flying slugger which did not get into the air until after the war began, and the P-51 Mustang, rated by many the world's best single-engined fighter.

DOZENS PLANNED

Literally dozens of other warcraft were on drafting boards, but few of them have passed the army's rigid requirements.

Variety in aircraft was sacrificed to production.

About 19,000 airplanes were built in 1941. The 1943 total was 85,946, and the weight of each plane was nearly double that of the prewar model.

The early 1944 rate of production was around 110,000 a year with a still greater average weight.

The army's plans called for pilots and other crewmen to fly those airplanes. Only 696 pilots were graduated in 1941; the total for 1943 was 65,000. In 1941 the army turned out 601 navigators and 310 bombardiers, but no aerial gunners or ground technicians. The Air Forces Training Command graduated 13,783 navigators, 13,998 bombardiers, 81,398 aerial gunners, 513,333 technicians and 18,850 others in various classifications in 1943.

Those figures are a simple story of how America built for war while fighting one. During those two years, newly produced planes and air crews were rushed to battle in the Pacific, in Africa and Europe.

The first American fliers in American planes to enter the air war over Europe flew in six A-20 Havocs with a British formation on April 7, 1942. Six weeks later came the first all-American raid—an attack on the Rouen rail yards by a dozen unescorted B-17's. The Fortresses flew nine such missions before losing a plane.

Less than a year later the United States Eighth Air Force was able to send over a flight of 100 heavy bombers, and in another nine months the offensives were 10 times that large. A few months more and the bomber and their escorting fighters totaled 2,000.

The pre-invasion air war had, in addition to production and personnel, another major phase—logistics. This was in two parts, the bulk supply problem, on which all hopes for final triumph rested and the speed problem, on which all hopes for final triump rested, and the speed problem. Airplanes solved both.

Land and carrier-based air patrols drove the submarine out of sea lanes jammed with cargo vessels. The Army Air Transport Command and the Navy Air Transport Service covered some 200,000 miles of routes, building airways as they went, flying with the regularity of domestic airlines and the daring of pioneers. They delivered millions of pounds of vital materials on schedules figured in hours instead of weeks.

EIGTH IN BUSINESS

The Eighth Bomber Command went into business on Aug. 17, 1942.

United States participation in the air war over Europe had been little more than a token up to that time, and even thereafter it grew but slowly. Not until Jan. 27, 1943, did an American force strike at a target in Germany proper—Wilhelmshaven—and not until more than a year later, Feb. 3, 1944, were American planes seen over Berlin.

The two years of preparation were followed by a mighty expansion in activity.

The December, 1943, volume of bombs dropped by the Eighth Air Force was 12,000 tons—a third as much as had been dropped in the preceding 16 months. Thereafter the totals spiraled upward.

If Berlin had not seen Yankee planes, they were familiar in plenty of other cities—Bremen, Emden, Wilhelmshaven, Kiel, Vegesack, Schweinfurt, Hanover, Paris, Antwerp, Trondheim, St. Nazaire, and even Gdynia in the Polish Corridor.

The objective of the American Air Forces, stated officially after the Casablanca conference, was:

"To accomplish the progressive destruction of the German military, industrial and economic systems to a point where the capacity for armed resistance is fatally weakened."

The plan for reaching the objective was:

First, hit vulnerable targets to slow the Nazi fighter plane production program, then as momentum gathered to beat down the German air force itself and thus lay open the whole of German war production, transportation and stores.

Rep. Kleberg Admits Deductions From 13-Year-Old Page Boy's Pay

WASHINGTON, [UP] Rep. Richard E. Kleberg, millionaire owner of one of the world's biggest ranches, said yesterday his office had made deductions from the salary of a 13-year-old Capitol page boy "to defray office expenditures for duties which he could not perform," but he denied any part in firing the boy—Robert Jackson.

In a brief statement, Kleberg said he had been informed by Ralph Roberts, House doorkeeper, that Roberts had "fired the boy for failure to report for duty."

"That is all I know of this case and these are the facts," he said.

The statement was in reply to charges by the boy's mother that her son had been forced to "kick back" $39 of his $129 monthly salary.

The charges were aired Sunday night by Radio Commentator Drew Pearson who charged that Kleberg had obtained young Jackson's dismissal after his mother "protested that her son had to kick back $39 a month to the Congressman." Pearson had quoted from affidavit in which Mrs. Jackson said he had told Kleberg he probably did not know about the arrangement, but that "Mr. Kleberg replied that he knew all about the matter, and it was not unusual for Congressmen to bear the burden of their offices through such deductions."

Kleberg's statement, in which he professed ignorance of the case prior to Sunday, said in part:

"I now find that deductions were made in the salary [of Robert Jackson] that went to defray office expenditures for duties which he could not perform. This arrangement operated from the time of his employment on Feb. 4, 1944.

"The boy was placed on the payroll under my patronage by my late secretary, Bill Elliott, who died of a heart attack some weeks ago . . . Elliott was in complete charge of the running of my office.

"I do not know what arrangements, if any, Bill Elliott might have made with this boy when he was placed on the payroll. . . ."

Mrs. Jackson's affidavit had said arrangements for her son's employment as a page were made with "Mrs. Mary Elliott, and, subsequently her husband, both of them employed in Rep. Kleberg's office."

"Mr. Elliott told me that Robert would receive $75 a month, and that part of his salary above that amount would have to go to defray office expenses," the affidavit said. "When Robert received his first check it was for $129.50. He cashed the check, took the entire amount to Rep. Kleberg's office where he was allowed to retain only $75. Later, I called on Mr. Elliott, reminding him that he had promised to see whether he could do better. He was not very definite, though a month later Robert was allowed to keep $90, instead of $75."

Prowling Submarines Slash Enemy Shipping U. S., Britain Reveal

WASHINGTON [UP] American and British submarines, hitting at enemy shipping on opposite sides of the world, have sunk 47 more Axis ships—16 Jap vessels sent to the bottom of the Pacific by U. S. submersibles and 31 Germans bagged in the Mediterranean and Aegean Seas by the British.

The victories were announced in separate communiques issued here and at London. The British Admiralty said its bag included 26 supply ships and five naval auxiliaries, and seven others damaged.

A few hours earlier, the navy here reported that U. S. submarines, in a stepped up undersea offensive that now is accounting for better than one Jap ship a day, had sunk one large transport, five cargo transports and 10 cargo ships. This brought the announced total for the past 35 days to 57 Jap ships sunk.

All told, submarines alone have sunk 589 Jap ships since Pearl Harbor while the combined total of all American forces—submarines, surface ships and planes—now stands at better than 1,430.

As evidence of the staggering blows being delivered by submarines against Japan's weakening supply lines, four communiques issued since May 2 have listed 57 Jap victims as follows: May 2—12 ships; May 12—14 ships; May 25—15 ships and the 16 announced yesterday.

The intensified drive is in keeping with a recent promise by Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Fleet, who said that the underseas war would grow fiercer. The offensive has grown coincident with American acquisition of bases deeper in the Pacific, thus shortening the supply lines for the submarines and making it possible for them to remain on patrol for longer periods.

Divorcee Enters Insanity Plea

EL CENTRO, Calif. [INS] A dual plea of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity to a murder charge was entered yesterday by Mildred Skelton, young St. Louis divorcee who killed her ten-month-old daughter by throwing the baby into the Colorado River. Her trial was set for June 26.

At the time of her arrest last May 19 she said the boy was "better off dead" than grow up an illegitimate child. A soldier with whom she was living in Yuma, Ariz., refused to marry her, asserting that the child was not his.

President Warns Of Long Struggle Against Germans

'One Up, Two to Go,' FDR Says of Rome

WASHINGTON, [AP] Hailing the capture of Rome with the jubilant phrase "one up and two to go," Pres. Roosevelt declared last night that the aim now is to drive Germany "to the point where she will be unable to recommence world conquest a generation hence."

Mr. Roosevelt, in a nation-wide radio broadcast, cautioned that this struggle with the Axis would be tough and costly and that the day of Germany's surrender "lies some distance ahead."

Whether his reaffirmation that the fight would be pressed until Germany surrenders was a reply to the recent speech of Pope Pius XII was not stated. The Pope asserted last week that the idea that the war must end either in complete victory or complete destruction is a stimulant toward prolonging the conflict and expressed hope for an early peace.

Speaking of Rome as the great symbol of Christianity, the President declared "it will be a source of deep satisfaction that the freedom of the Pope and of Vatican City is assured by the armies of the United Nations."

But he declared that no thanks are due Hitler and his generals "if Rome was spared the devastation which the Germans wreaked on Naples and other Italian cities."

PRAISES GENERALS

"The Allied generals maneuvered so skillfully," he said, "that the Nazis could only have stayed long enough to damage Rome at the risk of losing their armies."

"Our victory," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "comes at an excellent time, while our Allied forces are poised for another strike at Western Europe—and while armies of other Nazi soldiers nervously await our assault. And our gallant Russian allies continue to make their power felt more and more."

The President extended to Italy the invitation to help in establishing a lasting peace and said, "all the other nations opposed to fascism and nazism should help give Italy a chance.

"The Germans, after years of domination in Rome, left the people in the Eternal City on the verge of starvation. We and the British will do everything we can to bring them relief. x x x We have already begun to save the lives of the men, women and children of Rome."

The Italian people "are capable of self-government," Mr. Roosevelt continued. "We do not lose sight of their virtues as a peace loving nation."

Allied Infantry Units Cross Tiber River In Pursuit of Nazis

ROME, [AP] Allied armor and motorized infantry roared through the Eternal City yesterday—not pausing to sight-see—crossed the Tiber, and proceeded with the grim task of destroying two battered German armies fleeing to the north.

Flashing forces of Allied fighter-bombers spearheaded the pursuit jamming the escape highways northward with burning enemy transports and littering the fields with dead and wounded Nazis.

The enemy was tired, disorganized and bewildered by the slashing character of the Allied assault, which in 25 days had inflicted a major catastrophe on German forces in Italy and liberated Rome almost without damage to the historic city.

Joining the relentless program of destruction, 500 American heavy bombers blasted railyards at five points in Northern Italy between Venice and Rimini along which the Germans might attempt to move reinforcements and equipment to bolster Marshal Albert Kesselring's beaten armies.

CLARK ENTERS ROME

At 10 A. M., yesterday Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark, tall commander of the victorious Fifth Army, entered Rome in a jeep and drove to the city hall, where he formally proclaimed the Allied occupation and praised the valor of his troops.

The speed of the enemy's flight once his lines before Rome burst was evident in the great quantities of war material left behind, including stockpiles sufficient to equip several divisions.

The great circle in front of St. Peter's was crowded with townspeople, but no Allied soldiers entered the area.

Just 24 hours after the first Allied troops made their way through dense minefields and broke into the southeastern suburbs of the city at 8 A. M., Sunday, the leading elements had passed completely through the capital and the last German sniper had been killed or captured.

British Eighth Army forces advancing from the east continued to meet stubborn opposition, particularly northeast of Valmontone, where the Germans were fighting in fixed mountain defense positions. The enemy had been driven completely out of the Sacco Valley, clearing the towns of Fiuggi, Piglio, Paliano, Guarcino and Cave.

Forged Documents Charged in Court

ROME [AP] Federal charges that malis were used to defraud in a scheme to secure titles of land by putting forged documents on file in various courts in the State will be heard here Wednesday.

Asst. Dist. Atty. J. Ellis Mundy said the government alleged that Charles Edward Davis of Miami Beach, Fla., had attempted to secure title of lands by sending forged documents to various courts for recording.

Federal Judge Robert Russell overruled a plea in abatement made by the defendant yesterday and set the case for Wednesday. Davis claimed in his plea that three members of the grand jury that indicted him were unqualified as jurors, Mundy said.

British Freighter Caught by U-Boat On Atlantic Run

MIAMI [AP] A lone British freighter, manned by a French crew, was torpedoed and sunk early in May in the first reported outbreak of submarine warfare in the Atlantic Ocean in many months.

Six men are missing, but 47 others sailed 500 miles to the coast of South America in two lifeboats.

Robert Arthur Nutton, 19-year-old United States Navy signalman of South Portland, Me., described the attack upon his arrival at Miami by airplane.

Nutton said two torpedoes struck the vessel shortly before sundown.

"We abandoned ship, and found places in two lifeboats and two liferafts," he related.

"Soon after the ship sank, the submarine came alongside one lifeboat. An officer, speaking English, asked 'where is the skipper?' We replied that he had gone down with the ship. Later, though, we found him floating around in a life preserver.

Yank Bombers Continue Blast Of Invasion Line

1,250-Plane Sweep Dumps 2,250 Tons

LONDON [AP] American heavy bombers up to 750 strong smashed again yesterday at Hitler's bristling Atlantic Wall, continuing ceaseless pounding and hurling more than 15,000 tons of explosives since Friday against that section of the French coast nearest this island arsenal.

Flying Fortresses and Liberators, shepherded by 500 fighters, dumped 2,250 tons of bombs on the Nazi front-line invasion defenses in the area from Calais to Boulogne as the mighty Allied aerial onslaught thundered into its 18th consecutive day.

Six heavy bombers and two fighters were lost in the operation.

It was the fourth continuous day of pounding for the area, and the sixth straight mission against those targets for the American heavies.

During that period American and British heavy bombers also have slammed railroads in the Paris area and other objectives in Occupied France with 5,000 tons of explosives.

Yesterday's U. S. assault was followed in the afternoon by attacks on bridges, intersections, locomotives and other rail targets at Conflans, Gisors, Mezieres and Beauvais in Northern France and at Mons in Belgium by Thunderbolt fighter-bombers of the U. S. Ninth Air Force. Factories at Conflans and Juziers and a radio station at Louviers, also in Northern France, were hit.

These daylight blows followed quickly the third straight night attack by the RAF on the so-called "mystery emplacements" across the Channel in the Pas de Calais area.

Only twice during their eight missions crowded in since Friday morning have the American heavies penetrated beyond the "rocket-gun coast." In the second of Saturday's two raids and in the third of Sunday's triple-header attack they went as far as the Paris area to unload their deadly cargo on railroads and other objectives.

The coastal installations still were smoking from the forenoon assault when medium Marauder bombers winged over Northern France under Thunderbolt escort at midday, to heap further destruction on invasion targets. Thunderbolt fighter-bombers helped to set the stage by dive-bombing ground defenses. Pilots reported moderate flak and no fighter opposition, and the Maurauders accomplished the mission without loss.

Tomatoes Plentiful On New York Market

NEW YORK [AP] The volume of tomatoes coming to the New York market from deep south areas exceeds that of last year by 32 per cent and indications are that other areas will produce correspondingly large crops, the Office of the War Food Administration said yesterday.

A WFA spokesman said, however, that housewives should plan canning programs as large as last year because only five-eighths of last year's allocated amount of the commercial pack of tomatoes and tomato juice would be held for civilians stores in 1944.

Sub Sighted, Sunk

OTTAWA [AP] The Canadian destroyer St. Laurent, assisted by the frigate H.M.C.S. Swansea and the Royal Navy destroyer Forester recently sunk a U-boat with depth charges and gunfire, the Royal Navy announced last night.

The St. Laurent "rode herd" on the U-boat so successfully that members of the crew fired pistols and hurled empty shell cases as well as other bric-a-brac at the submarine.

A number of prisoners were picked up by the three ships after the U-boat was destroyed.

Chindits Continue Myitkyina Attack Against Japanese

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, Ceylon [AP] Air-borne Chindits are continuing their attacks from the south of the besieged Japanese North Burma base of Myitkyina, and within the city itself Chinese and American forces have gained more than 200 yards in their slugging drive through the southeast portion, Allied headquarters announced yesterday.

North of the city, Levies raided the village of Nsopzup, and to the south the Chindits pressed forward near Waingmaw.

Kamaing, 40 miles to the west, was being attacked by Allied troops from positions four and one half miles east and six and one half miles southeast of the city, and is "now more closely invested," said the bulletin from Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters, while west of the Mogaung River, Chinese pushing southward took another village.

On the India side of the Burma campaign, the city of Kohima was reported reliably to have been cleared completely of Japanese although some units were clinging to the overlooking hills.

Along the Tiddim Road American planes fired two enemy tanks and one fuel truck and destroyed 11 motor transports, and along the Paiktamu Road and in the Imphal-Ukhrul area, Allied columns advancing under air and artillery support, "captured several features" Saturday, the communique said.

"In the Bishenpur neighborhood," it added, "we have captured an important feature after an air strike."

[To the east of the Burma fighting, in China's Yunnan Province, a Chinese communique said troops southwest of the Salween River, supported by artillery, Sunday attacked Mengliehchieh, east of Lungling, about five miles from the Huitung bridge and 24 miles from Lungling, recapturing a strong point in the face of stiff resistance and putting enemy remnants to flight. The area is about five miles west of the Burma Road.]

Potato Ceiling Hiked by OPA

WASHINGTON [AP] Ceiling prices for early 1944 potatoes were increased yesterday 20 cents per hundred pounds for the rest of this month, through an Office of Price Administration order effective in all States except California and Arizona.

The action, under which the increase in growers' prices may be passed on to the consumer, was taken to permit growers to recoup, to some extent, losses suffered because of bad weather conditions, OPA said.

Oldest Draftee Given Discharge

WILMINGTON, Del. [AP] Stephen Reardon, 46, whom the army newspaper Stars and Stripes once called the oldest man ever drafted in the United States, has been given a medical discharge in England, his brother, Francis, said yesterday.

Reardon, unmarried, was inducted in August, 1942, after having worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad for 27 years. Three weeks after induction he was sent to England with an army machine record unit.

Crash Kills Two

MIAMI BEACH, [INS] Two men were killed yesterday when two naval training planes from the Opa Locka Naval Air Station collided while flying over the ocean about three miles off Miami Beach.

Names of the victims were not immediately announced. Naval authorities said that a passenger on one of the planes, Ens. Robert C. Alysworth, USNR, of Los Angeles, Calif., was saved.

Mustang Pilots Make Double Run

LONDON [AP] Pilots of a Mustang fighter group made a double run to the Continent yesterday—the first to escort heavy bombers over the French coast, and the second to drop their own bombs on an enemy truck transport they discovered themselves.

The group commanded by Col. Don Blakeslee of Fairport Harbor, Ohio—which has destroyed 583 German planes in aerial combat and strafing attacks—encountered no enemy fighters on the first trip. But en route back to their bases they spotted a large German truck convoy moving along an already bomb-pitted road.

They raced back to base, refuelled, loaded up with bombs and sped back to the Continent. They relocated the convoy, and one by one the Mustangs swooped down and dropped their bombs on the prey.

de Gaulle Abandons Hope of U. S. Accord In London Sessions

ALGIERS [AP] Gen. Charles de Gaulle abandoned yesterday his efforts to make complete United States participation in the forthcoming London negotiations a condition for his departure.

French officials held that the conference on civil administration and French-Allied relations would be pointless without American concurrence, but a source close to de Gaulle told U. S. and British diplomats that stories that he would leave only if America was adequately represented were baseless.

Allied officials said, however, that de Gaulle twice had "suggested" American participation would be both desirable and essential.

It was learned reliably that a French National Committee spokesman acted at de Gaulle's direction in telling correspondents the general wished full American participation, but these instructions later were retracted and the general's entourage disavowed the earlier reports.

U. S. quarters said Washington's position was unchanged, that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant were sufficiently empowered to commit Washington as far as the United States is willing to go now.

Solon Hails Victory

WASHINGTON [INS] Rep. John McCormack, House majority leader, led off Congressional comment on the fall of Rome yesterday with the assertion the victory is "evidence of things to come."

"The fall of Rome will have a vast psychological effect throughout the world," McCormack declared in a House speech. "It is evidence of things to come."

He warned the people of the United States, however, that the "war is not yet over" and that "the home front must go forward with a grim determination to bring peace to the world."

Nazi Pressure Forces Titomen Into Retreat On West Bosnia Front

LONDON [UP] The heaviest fighting of the Yugoslav campaign appeared to be underway yesterday in Western Bosnia, main center of Partisan resistance, as Marshal Tito's units fought a desperate retreating action in an effort to stave off an intensified German onslaught.

Apparently sparing no cost in the effort to wipe out the Yugoslav threat to the German rear in the Balkans before the expected Allied east-west grand offensive, Field Marshal Baron Maximilian von Weichs is pouring additional fresh troops and armor into Western Bosnia and Banija, a Partisan headquarters communique reported.

"Very heavy fighting is continuing," said an official announcement which added that "our units are stubbornly defending every inch of ground and inflicting very heavy losses on the enemy."

A late communique broadcast last night by the Free Yugoslav Radio said that the Germans, aided by tanks, were continuing their bitter attacks, but that Allied bombers wrecked the Brezice Airdrome near Zagreb, capital of Croatia, Sunday, killing 200 Nazis.

The German DNB agency in a belated broadcast on a recent attempt by Nazi parachutists and motorized forces to capture Tito at his headquarters asserted that 20 American and British officers "on Tito's staff" were killed in the fighting.

"In this action, the Bolshevist bands lost 6,000 men altogether, including 3,000 killed," the broadcast said, adding that the importance which the Allies attach to Tito's forces has been shown "by the intense support given them by Anglo-American bombers, fighters, and transport planes."

Mississippi Demos In Active Meetings At Convention Nears

JACKSON [INS] Unofficial and behind the scenes meetings were under way among Mississippi's Democratic political leaders last night as the State Democratic convention date drew near.

While the convention does not begin until Wednesday, numerous huddles were reported yesterday at which prospective resolutions blasting or defending the Roosevelt administration were discussed.

Official district caucuses and the meeting of the State executive committee will be held today and there were reports that factions opposing the Roosevelt group were striving hard to put across their resolutions or at least win agreements favoring their points.

Considerable interest is being shown in the convention and outside observers were uncertain whether political fireworks would develop.

Anti-New Deal sentiment is strong in Mississippi and leaders of the group were reported favoring a Vice Presidential candidate other than Henry A. Wallace in the event Pres. Roosevelt is renominated, and re-instatement of the two-thirds convention vote rule, which would give the South greater power in picking party leaders.

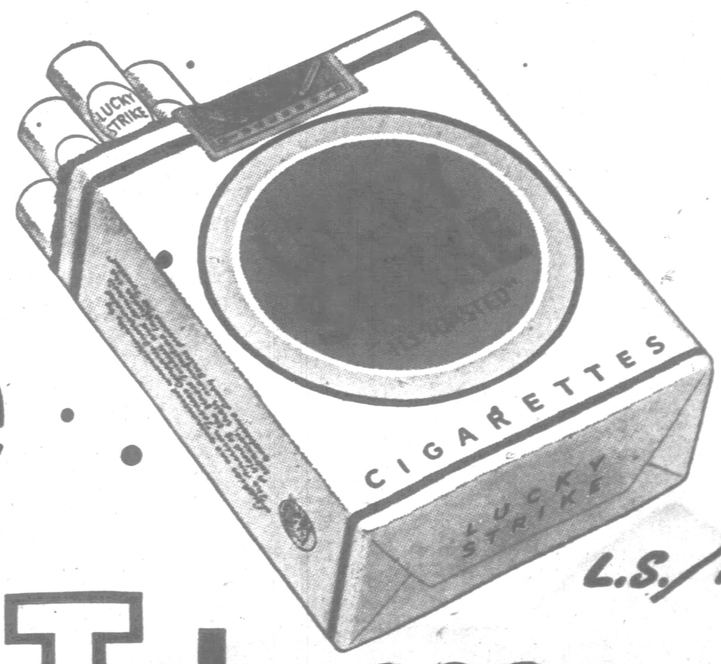

The anti-Roosevelt faction also wants the State convention to denounce, even to the point of refusing to vote next Fall, any attempts to wrte a racial equality clause in the party's 1944 platform.

The group seeks further to have the convention express its beliefs so strongly that none in Washington will misunderstand the attitude of Mississippi Democrats.

Why Not Breed a New Grass?

WE ARE REMINDED in an article from Gainesville by Clyde Beale that many of Florida's pasture grasses are imported from other countries, even carpetgrass which many think a native of this area, but which came from farther south.

Of dozens of such grasses tried out here several have proved of value,-but not one fills the full need and so far as we know there is no definite research under way to develop a Florida grass, by crossing, hybridizing and such means with a definite final grass in mind.

Since there are grasses of no great importance that are green the year around, it looks possible to develop a grass of importance that would provide grazing the entire year, a grass that would produce more food than carpetgrass, which is low-growing and short except in the most favorable seasons.

Mr. Beale mentions bahia grass as excellent, especially for high locations, but says it is difficult to germinate, but we recall seeing the new Pensacola type of bahia on the ranch of Mr. Earl Hartt at Sebring, which has several good qualities.

* * *

THIS TYPE OF BAHIA not only seeds readily, but grows upright, taking all the space and having a good tendency towards crowding out wild grass and weeds, besides furnishing some grazing even during an open Winter.

This would seem to be a good species on which to start experiments, not only by selection but also by the processes by which new grasses can be produced, and it would be worth millions to the Florida cattle industry to have not one but several grasses, each adapted to a special situation or purpose.

Seeing not enough is done along this line by the public experiment stations, we suggest that the cattlemen take the matter up and either get such research seriously under way at once, or else establish their own research which could be conducted at a cost of $20,000 a year or less, if grass and not show is the main purpose.

Like all other sums spent on intelligent research, this outlay would soon be worth its cost to every stockman who operates on even a modest scale and we have no doubt some of the stockmen will press this issue.

Speeds Up Cuban Roads

WE HAD A FINE CHAT with Dr. Alfredo Noguera, Cuba's minister of public works and an alumnus of Rollins who received his honorary degree there Monday, and who has been several months in his new job.

Since his incumbency he has built waterworks, sanitary systems and is now constructing a difficult stretch of mountainous roadway which he hopes to complete this year and of which he has built 12 miles in three months which seems to be a Cuban record.

In fact, maybe it would be a record even in the fast-driving States where we are continually bragging about our performance records, and we have long been convinced that we take too long to build a mile of paving.

Maybe the war has slowed such construction down a little, but we have noted many projects that seemed to drag without due cause and we hope that when the contracts for Highway 22 are let there will be penalty clauses for failure to complete within a given time, not too long, and bonuses for getting through ahead of schedule.

We have seen concrete poured at the rate of a mile a week and we have never yet heard motorists complain because a road was completed too quickly.

Iceland Sloughs Denmark

WE NOTE THAT ICELAND has become a republic and is no longer under the rule of King Haakon of Denmark, who himself is not doing much ruling right at this time on account of the necessity of stepping around so many Nazis on his way to and from his office.

Of course, there was a time when it didn't matter much who ruled Iceland for it was so far away there couldn't be much or frequent interference, but the fast steamer and plane have made it rather annoying and so the people voted more than 100-1 to ditch outsiders.

Also since our troops have been quartered there and Iceland has been the base for protection of our Russian-bound convoys, the people have come to like us and our ways pretty well, for we have conducted ourselves as guests and not interfered with their politics.

In consequence, observers think Iceland will look to us hereafter rather than to Denmark for paternal guidance in any future situation and certainly they know that our military residence there has protected them against Nazi occupation which at one time was a part of the Hitler program.

Our ways are not their ways, but what they have seen of our ways they like and have confidence in, which makes for a better relationship, especially as Denmark took tribute and we went bearing gifts.

First Lady and Premier

By DREW PEARSON

[Washington Merry-Go-Round]

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Roosevelt's blunt press-conference remarks about Winston Churchill's recent speech in the House of Commons brought out publicly what those around the White House have known for some time—that the First Lady never has been too enthusiastic about the Prime Minister.

Last Summer, Churchill came to Washington after Quebec and, together with Harry Hopkins, occupied one section of the White House. There, military conferences continued day and night, with the Prime Minister walking up and down the White House corridors in flapping bedroom slippers and a great gold-and-red silk kimono.

At that time, Mrs. Roosevelt is said to have telephoned from New York to a member of her family in the White House and to have tactfully inquired:

"Is that man still there?" (She was not referring to the President.)

It was not the way the Prime Minister dressed or made himself at home in the White House that bothered Mrs. Roosevelt. But, according to friends, she did feel that Mr. Churchill wore her husband out with his long hours. (He often sleeps from noon until about 7 P. M., then stays up until about 3 A. M. Meanwhile, the President had to face his regular routine all day long.)

UNPROMOTED COMBAT FLIERS

One thing that gripes the boys at the front is the way a lot of the desk officers in the War Department and others here at home seem to get promotions more rapidly than the boys who are up on the firing line. Some of them feel so badly about it that they aren't anxious to come home, though given opportunities of furlough, because they are outranked by their old friends at home.

For instance, most of the new pilots just arriving in England are second lieutenants. They haven't been on any missions at all. Meanwhile, men who have been in England for two years, and have been flying over Europe constantly, still remain second lieutenants.

"How many do you have?" Asks some newly arrived pilot who has flown twice across the Channel, each flight being a mission.

"Oh, yesterday was my 34th," is the cool reply of the man who, after two years of combat flying, still is a second lieutenant.

TIRE-RATION PROBE

The Office of Price Administration is quietly probing several cases of tire ration violations which promise to be sensational. They go right into some of the biggest tire companies of the country.

One of the big tire companies is being probed on a charge of having failed to void the tire ration certificates turned in to them by retailers. In other words, when a retail tire store or garage sells a tire, it has to send back to the tire manufacturer the certificates issued by the OPA ration board. However, the OPA is tracking down reports that these tire certificates, instead of being stamped as used, are going back to the dealers, or else remaining with them in the first place. Thus, they are able to sell more tires without requiring more certificates in exchange.

Another big company is being investigated by the OPA for buying up new tires of various makes from dealers and later reselling them through the company's own stores at considerable loss. Even though not the tires made by this company, the loss was considered a good investment because it got motorists into the habit of trading with this company's retail stores.

There may be some startling news breaking on this soon.

BEES FOR MAVERICK

Maury Maverick, hard-working chief of the Small War Plants Corporation, is going in for bees in his office.

Talking to Sec. of Agriculture Claude Wickard the other day, Maverick remarked:

"What this town needs is to study bees. They could give us all a lesson. I want to get a hive of bees in my office so folks can sit and study how they get things done."

Maverick, who gets down to his office at 7 every morning, two hours ahead of his staff, was half joking, though back in Texas he did keep bees. However, Sec. Wickard was having dinner with Donald Nelson and Russel Arundel sometime later and recounted the conversation. Arundel then promised to get Maverick a hive of bees.

He has now fulfilled his promise and sent the hives to Wickard to be delivered to Maverick. The bees will be in a glass case with a hole through the window sill so they can feed on the flowers around the Capitol. The queen bee's name is Beatrice.

Arundel, who is presenting the bees, was formerly secretary to Republican ex-Sen. Metcalf of Rhode Island. Maverick, informed that his bees were Republican, replied: "That's all right. I can use Republican bees—just so long as they work."

De Lorenzo Faces Court

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Thomas De Lorenzo, born Harry Posner, and known at his mysterious convenience by several other names, will go to trial in the Federal Court in New York today or Wednesday on an indictment charging false swearing on two occasions in his dealings with the government both as a war plant worker and as an official of Local 365 of the United Auto Workers of the CIO. He is a liar on his oath by his own admission before a Congressional committee which investigated production failure in the Brewster plants manufacturing fighter planes for the navy and he said last year that if it were a question of sacrificing the lives of American naval fighting men or advancing the interests of his union he would let the fighters die.

This is the union whose members last week staged a false strike, a sit-in demonstration with emotional banners, at the Brewster plants, demanding that the navy or some other department award further contracts to Brewster to prolong their jobs.

In all the loud publicity which attended the sit-in strike in Long Island City and Johnsville, Pa., last week, the name of De Lorenzo was almost entirely suppressed lest the public be reminded that this was the union with the most disgraceful record of cold-blooded and selfish betrayal of the fighters in the whole sorry story of unionism in the war. Instead, to take the heat off and divert attention from the union's past, Richard T. Frankensteen, vice president of the national organization, moved prominently into the scene to conduct the negotiations in Washington which now, apparently, will result in some appeasement of the slackers at the expense of the patriotic body of the American people, through the allocation of further orders to Brewster.

De Lorenzo is charged specifically with concealing his police record in an affidavit to which he swore in obtaining a place on a labor panel of the WLB and with swearing falsely that he had previous experience in airplane construction in applying for his first factory job, where he would be out of the draft.

The maximum penalty is 10 years. But his fellow patriots in the union have been making propaganda that his police record was really trivial, although it included charges of riotous picketing and malicious mischief in obstructing work at another airplane plant, during a wartime strike.

They'll Do It Every Time — By JIMMY HATLO

ADVICE— Dorothy Dix

FINE ART OF BEING A WOMAN

A mother asks: "If you had a little daughter, what would you teacher her?"

I should begin by trying to teach her the fine art of being a woman, for the only women who really succeed in life are those who turn out a first-class job of woman. So I would try to put into her hands the weapons with which she can best fight her battle with the world. These are sweetness and graciousness and tact, with them a woman is invicible.

From her infancy up I should drill her in charm and good manners. I should teach her how to smile; how to meet people; how to be cordial and make the little gestures that win friends at sight; how to show people the little attentions that they value so much beyond their worth.

GIRL SHOULD LEARN TACT

Then I should begin in the kindergarten to teach her how to be tactful. To think before she spoke and never say the blundering things that wound vanity, or turns the search light on old shames. I should teach her how to walk around a stone wall, instead of butting her brains out against it. I should teach her how to sidestep arguments; how to apply soft soap, and how to handle people with gloves. And when I had taught my daughter to be charming and sweet and gracious, I would know that I had given her a magic that would work wherever she went and that nothing could prevail against it.

I should teach her that no woman can afford to be ugly or uncouth. I should teach her how to develop her body until she had a good figure, and how to carry herself so that she looked 50 per cent prettier than she was, instead of 40 per cent less good-looking. I should teach her how to dress, because beauty is in the eye of the beholder and is just as often a chiffon scarf as a peaches-and-cream complexion.

I would teach my daughter some way of making a living because that is the best way in which I could safeguard her future. There is no certainty nowadays that a girl will get a husband, or, if she does, that he will be able to support her. Nor has a wife any assurance that her husband will not grow tired of her and leave her.

PREPARE FOR ANY SITUATION

So I would see to it that my daughter has the protection that being able to stand on her own feet and make her own way in the world gives a woman, for thereby I should save her from the despair that a woman feels when her husband dies and leaves her without money, or when he is taken sick, or deserts her, and she hears the wolf at the door and has no way of fighting it off. Also, I would save her from the degradation of having to live with a brute who mistreated her and abused her because he was her only meal ticket.

I should teach my little girl what we call the "truths of life" and the sort of place the world is and make her wise to its dangers and temptations. Ignorance is not innocence, and no girl of mine would wander by accident down the primrose path. I would have hung too many red lanterns before her. And, above all, I should teach my girl that the greatest temptation that she will ever have to resist will come from within, and that the one person against whom she must be most on her guard is herself.

I should teach my daughter to be a good woman and a good sport. Clean in life, broad-minded and charitable in thought and deed, sweet and gentle, loving and sympathetic, for that is the kind of woman the world needs.

The Lowdown

By COL. CLOUDBURST

I see a man is arrested for making a bomb to use on a rival for his wife's affections. If he doesn't possess his wife's affections she'll probably give them to somebody else. In fact, to lose them is a confession of weakness or something.

* * *

A husband just can't kill off all possible rivals. His only prospect is to be first in line. If he can't do that he can't do anything that counts. One reason why I never got married is that the gal already liked several other fellows better than me. Why should I marry into a mess like that?

* * *

The fact is, most bridegrooms start off with everything in their favor. If the marriage doesn't pan out it must be somebody's fault. If it is the man's fault, why should he try to kill somebody else?

* * *

Personally, I think a square is better than a triangle, for in a triangle there are just not enough people to go round. Three people are too many, but four are just enough.

The Public Thought:

BE BRIEF—BE COURTEOUS

WANTS NO BELLS

Editor, Orlando Morning Sentinel:

May I ask if ringing of bells and blowing of horns must take place at the time of the invasion? Could you think of anything so cruel for a mother with her boy over there and waiting to hear the signal for his death or maybe worse than death?

The writer is with a mother who is in constant dread and fear of that terrible sound. Would it not be better to keep our flags lowered and the church doors open for the boys to enter at will, to pray in the quiet alone? The home is the place for constant prayer. Our nation is in mourning not rejoicing. Oh, that none of the boys can ever say they never heard their mother pray as one boy said as he was leaving for World War I. The earth is the Lord's and we are his children. Let us look to Him for help and prepare for our Saviour's return.

House Leaders Agree To 10% Reduction On Cabaret Tax

WASHINGTON (UP) House conferees yesterday agreed to accept a Senate rider to the debt limit bill which would reduce the cabaret tax from 30 per cent to 20 per cent.

The conferees decided, however, to eliminate the Senate provision which would have exempted members of the armed forces from the tax.

At the same time, the House spokesmen agreed to accept the Senate's decision to increase the debit limit to $260,000,000,000 from the present ceiling of $210,000,000,000 as originally passed by the House, the bill would have increased the limit to $24,000,000,000.

Tax leaders said action would be speeded in both the Senate and House.

Acceptance of the Senate amendment reducing the cabaret tax will make unnecessary action on several pending bills which called for slicing of the tax. Sponsors of the measures had contended that the tax was driving some cabarets into bankruptcy and causing widespread unemployment among entertainers.

The Oil Ruckus—Politics Caused It—Mr. Tyre's Tribute—Col. Scott Did Well.

By MARTIN ANDERSEN

"WHERE THERE IS oil, there is hell."

Texas editorial writers have quoted that phrase since the days of 1901, when the Spindletop well blew in at Beaumont, darkening the skies with the black gold gushing over its derrick.

Today in Florida the phrase is news, after all these years.

Today in the war, American fliers make the long and dangerous run over the Ploesti refineries deep in Rumania. For here is the key to Hitler's invasion defense. If he runs out of oil, the invasion will be a push-over. But at Ploesti today, there is hell, and fire and death, because there is oil at Ploesti.

Today in Arabia, where starvation is a common disease, a mile under the ground there are billions of dollars in oil—so much oil that our own Secretary of the Interior, Harold Ickes tried to build a pipeline to it, oust the British. Three big companies, Standard, Gulf and Texas wanted the Ickes pipeline, but all other companies fought it, and so, with international complications looming, our pipeline to Arabia died a-borning in the hell raised about it.

* * *

ALL OF WHICH IS going a long way around the world to tell our story. But, other than to color the theme, that is unnecessary. Our plea is simplicity itself. It has been told in this column, in our editorials, a dozen times.

Florida must not lease its state lands, its state lakes—to Mr. Arnold, Mr. Blanchard or anybody. Florida must keep its mineral rights, await further development of oil in this state, and make much more profitable deals than it already has made. Our oil lands, if protected, will educate our children's children for the next 100 years.

Tampa, Sarasota, Clearwater and most of Central Florida are up in arms about these state-owned land and lake leases. These people fear pollution. In this neck of the woods, when anybody starts experimenting with our lakes—such as digging deep canals and tapping underground rivers—there is generally hell to pay.

Little has been thought, in protests from these areas, about the economic value of these lands. The people, however, do not seem attracted by promises of economic stability for its schools. They brush such argument aside and yell out in protest against exploring, polluting and experimenting with our lakes, seashores.

* * *

THE TRUE STORY about Florida's oil ruckus is the story of politics.

The Holland cabinet, at odds with Att'y Gen'l Tom Watson, who actually drew the leases to Arnold, Blanchard and others, now realizing they are in quite a sizable political battle, have bowed their necks to win a point and outargue Watson.

But the oil lease controversy is bigger than a Holland-Watson skirmish, or a Mayo-Watson skirmish or a Gray-Watson skirmish.

These oil lands, if retained in the state's name, are more important than the political present or future of Gov. Holland and all the members of the Florida state cabinet.

Like the oil of Arabia, the oil in the bowels of Florida's earth will turn our elementary and higher educational systems into models for others to follow, produce greater, finer Florida citizens.

IN SUNDAY'S NEWSPAPER, Mr. Robt. R. Tyre, the progressive Realtor, does the unusual. He pictures a dozen attractive homes, none of which are for sale, because he has already sold them.

Some of these places he has transferred to the military. . . . Of these transactions, he writes in his full-page advertisement for Orlando, Central Florida and all the world to read:

"Many of our high-ranking officers to whom we have sold homes, before their departure for foreign duty, have said to us: 'I want a nice, comfortable home for my family while I am overseas.' This is the genuine American spirit—a home to live in; a home to come back to; a home to fight for—a place to rest when the battle is won. 'This is worth fighting for.'"

Never before have we seen such high value put on Orlando homes. No greater compliment could be paid to this smart, clean little town than that—the town of homes . . . homes which our men fight and die for!

Watson Tries Another Line Attacking Oil Land Leases

By ALLEN MORRIS
[Sentinel State House Bureau]

TALLAHASSEE—Atty.-Gen. J. Tom Watson tossed two more legal monkey wrenches Monday into the Cabinet's leasing of State lands, above and below water, for oil exploration. Wrote Watson to fellow members of the Trustees of Internal Improvement Fund, who control land sales and leases:

"I am taking the position that no oil lease can be made legally over more than 320 acres of land without previous advertisement for public and competitve sale.

"I am taking the position legally that the people of the State have an interest in lake bottoms and shore line properties for fishing and bathing and the like.

"The Legislature cannot deprive them of that interest by any legislation purporting to authorize State alienation of any interest, right, title or claim in, over or to such lands."

Watson suggested to the trustees, among them Gov. Spessard L. Holland, that they direct him as Attorney General to notify present lease holders of the State's policy as defined by him.

The Attorney General already has sued to prevent Arnold explorations from proceeding under a lease to submerged lands in 10 lakes, including Okeechobee, Apopka and Kissimmee and part of the St. Johns River.

Floridian Awarded Cluster for Medal In Pacific Theatre

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA [AP] Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Allied Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific, has awarded a bronze Oakleaf Cluster to the Air Medal to Staff Sgt. Lowell R. Garner, Box 216, Shamrock.

The citation follows:

"For meritorious achievement while participating in an aerial flight over the Bismarck Sea on 1 November 1943. These officers and enlisted men were crew members of a B-24 dispatched on an armed reconnaissance mission to search for any shipping approaching Rabaul, New Britain. Flying in heavy weather, the plane proceeded by instruments over the Owen Stanley range to the Solomon Sea area where it was necessary to descend to 200 feet to obtain visibility. Near the northern coast of New Ireland, a three-ship enemy convoy was sighted. Since the difficult weather made an immediate attack inadvisable, this B-24 climbed to 6,000 feet and patroled the vicinity for over 25 minutes, although interception from nearby fighter airdromes was imminent. Finally one of the vessels, a freighter, was sighted and the bombardier released four 500-pound bombs, scoring two near misses. The vessel was last seen listing at a 45 degree angle, and an aircraft carrying out a subsequent reconnaissance shortly thereafter could find no trace of it. The courage and devotion to duty displayed on this occasion are worthy of commendation."

Floridians Protest Sugar Control Act

WASHINGTON [AP] Over the protests of Florida members, the House passed and sent to the Senate yesterday legislation continuing the Sugar Control Act another two years.

The law regulates both domestic crops and imports and provides grower quotas which, however, have been in suspension since the war broke out.

The 105 to 8 vote followed a short but sharp debate in which Rep. Hope said only the Florida delegation opposed the legislation.

"The State of Florida never has and never will receive fair treatment under this bill," said Rep. Hendricks, adding that this was due to the "historic treatment formula," which omits Florida as a primary sugar producer.

"In Florida," Hendricks declared, "we can produce 10 times as much as was allowed under the quota system."

Hope said quotas do not enter into the picture now, adding "there are no growers producing anything like their quotas and there very likely will be no quotas for the life of this bill."

Special Session Looms for State

Solons Will Study Teachers' Salary

By WILLIAM H. BISCHOFF
[Sentinel Staff Writer]

TALLAHASSEE—Gov. Holland yesterday told school representatives he would summon the Legislature into special session to relieve the teacher-pay emergency, but not to re-enact the school measure he vetoed in the last session.

Neither, the Governor told them, would he call the lawmakers without a pre-agreement "in black and white" of a majority of both Houses as to the program of legislation to be enacted.

Gov. Holland met in the Senate chamber with representatives of the continuing education council, the Florida Education Assn., teachers, legislators and others to hear proposals for relief of Florida's acute teacher-pay emergency.

Gov.-Designate Millard Caldwell, who listened intently throughout the discussion, declined to take part in it. He was present to "listen and observe," Caldwell said.

He heard them describe a situation wherein teachers could no longer afford to remain at their professions in view of the rising cost of living.

One speaker who did not identify himself told of school children leaving the classrooms for jobs which brought them higher pay than their teachers earned.

Mrs. Eanah Holder of DeLand, described a pay system in Volusia County under which teachers started at $870 annually and could earn a maximum of $1,500, "if they lived long enough."

EXAMPLE GIVEN

Mrs. Holder pointed to a man teacher with a family of five earning $1,200 a year and defied anyone present to "tell me that you could live on that."

State School Supt. Colin English declared that the high turnover of teachers is creating a spirit of restlessness among the children, leading to mischief and delinquency. He quoted a report from Ft. Lauderdale where one class had had 12 teachers during the current session.

Declaring he would not call the legislators together and risk a session of "useless recrimination and raids on the treasury," the Governor then outlined the only sort of program to which he would agree.

Most emphatic of his stipulations was that the program should contain a stabilization feature which would give "vastly disproportionate help" to the financially weak counties.

Gov. Holland also expressed the belief that the program of aiding the teachers should not be aimed at depleting the estimated $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 treasury surplus now on hand from race track betting and cigaret taxes.

Defending his veto of the previous school help measure, the Chief Executive said the act, in ignoring the special problem of the poorer counties, disregarded the State's Constitutional provision for a system of "uniform free schools."

The Governor named Orange, Dade and several other counties as among those with the ability to meet their own school problems. He named four categories of disability into which counties should fall in order to enjoy the benefit of the proposed stabilization fund. These were those which are taxpoor by reason of low taxable values; those with vast areas controlled by the Federal government and consequently non-tax-producing; counties struggling with bonded indebtedness, and those whose increased school demands were the result of industries brought in under temporary tax free guarantees. He named shipyards and paper mills among industries which placed counties in the last category.

In agreeing upon a program which he would consent to lay before a special session, Gov. Holland admonished the school spokesmen to stick to their proposed $150 increase over the present $800 State supplement per instructional unit.

It had been proposed by extemporaneous speakers at the conference that a $1,000 supplement be sought.

The Governor suggested that of the $150 increase, $100 be paid out in supplements, and that the remaining $50 be pooled to accumulate a fund to relieve the problems of the poorer counties.

Counties with the taxing ability to meet their own school problems, the Governor suggested, would receive a minimum five per cent increase under his plan. Other counties would be aided in proportion to their need.

Pointing to the present teacher pay system as "hopelessly unfair," he said some counties were paying teachers two and a half times as much as others were able to pay.

Although Orange County was not represented at yesterday's conference, the Governor said he had talked with persons interested in the schools there, and that they had agreed to the fairness of a stabilization program.

Senate President pro tem Ernest Housholder of Sanford expressed himself in accord with the Governor's program. He said he was willing to attend a special session to relieve the teacher emergency, but he believed the agenda should be agreed upon in advance.

Atty. Gen. Tom Watson told the group that Aug. 1 would be the earliest possible date for which a special session could be called. He pointed out that existing vacancies caused by calls to the armed services would have to be filled by special elections in order that no sections would be unrepresented.

U. S. Subsidies Enable Dairymen To Meet Problems

GAINESVILLE [AP] Federal subsidies amounting to nearly a million dollars during the past eight months have enabled Florida dairymen to meet increased production costs and continue producing maximum quantities of milk for war-time needs, H. G. Clayton, State administrator of Agricultural Adjustment Agency, said yesterday.

Recognizing the tight spot in which dairymen found themselves as feed and labor prices mounted while ceilings placed a limit on prices of milk and other dairy products, the government began paying subsidies on milk and butter fat in October, 1943, to help producers continue high production. From October, 1943, to May 31, 1944, subsidies totalling $966,290.67 were paid to 740 Florida dairymen, on production of 183,279,000 pounds of milk and 22,049.3 pounds of butter fat, Clayton reported.

Payments made up to June 1 were on milk produced from Oct. 1, 1943, through April 30, 1944, with payments on May production now getting under way.

Subsidy rates were 40 cents per hundred weight for milk and five cents per pound for butter fat from October through February, 80 cents and eight cents for March and April. With Spring and Summer improvement in pastures and reduction in feed costs for most dairymen, the rates were reduced to 65 and six cents, respectively, in May and will continue at these figures until September, when many pastures will be declining and the rates will be raised to 90 cents and 10 cents respectively.

It has been necessary for Florida to import large quantities of milk during the past two years to meet the needs of its greatly increased war population, where no milk was imported for several years before the war, Clayton explained.

"Florida dairymen have increased their production notably to help satisfy wartime needs in spite of many difficulties," he said. "It was not practical for them, however, to raise their production sufficiently to meet all the needs of the State's wartime population, because if this had been done, they would have been faced with a serious surplus problem in the postwar period."

Several Saloons Forced to Close

Pastors' Complaint Brings on Action

By T. R. HIGGINS
[Our Own Staff Correspondent]

SANFORD — Five saloons in Midway and Canan City, negro settlements, closed their doors at midnight, Saturday, and did not reopen them until Monday morning, under threat of having their licenses revoked. The pastors of five churches in the neighborhood complained, in writing to County Com. O. J. Pope of Sanford Ave. that these drinking places, licensed for beer and wine only, made so much noise on Sundays that church services were interfered with.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Hickson, Judge R. W. Ware and Lloyd L. Boyle, attorney for the commissioners, visited each one of the places and notified the proprietors of the decision of county officials. There was no objection, Sheriff C. M. Hand explained, who circled around Sunday and Sunday night, and so far as he could see the order was obeyed, he said.

About two weeks ago the pastors of several negro churches in Goldsborough made similar complaints, in writing. The proprietors were notified not to open on Sundays, too, the Sheriff said.

SANFORD—A large sign, in the nature of an American flag with only a few inches of the red stripes painted, erected by Ed Lane, publicity writer for the Fifth War Bond Drive, was blown down by a heavy gust of wind from a position half way up the building at First St. and Park Ave., Sunday afternoon, and badly damaged. The red stripes were to be painted in full, one at a time, as the drive progressed to indicate that one-seventh of the money, two-sevenths, etc., had been raised, Lane explained.

Coupons Found Floating in Canal West of Miami

MIAMI [AP] Gasoline ration coupons worth 4,800,000 gallons found floating in a canal 20 miles west of Miami have been identified as part of batch stolen during shipment from Jacksonville to Miami.

P. N. Hiatt, OPA enforcement attorney, said a hasty check of the coupons—960,000 of which were found—showed that they were a part of the shipment.

"There is little that we can say just now," Hiatt declared. "The sorting of the coupons alone is a tremendous task, but you can snatch some of them from any portion of this mass and you'll find that they were included in the coupons taken from the express company."

The stolen coupons made a huge pile on a table in Hiatt's office. Some were damaged, but others showed no signs of having been immersed.

"These coupons just got too hot to keep," Hiatt said.

Yeggs Crack Safe,

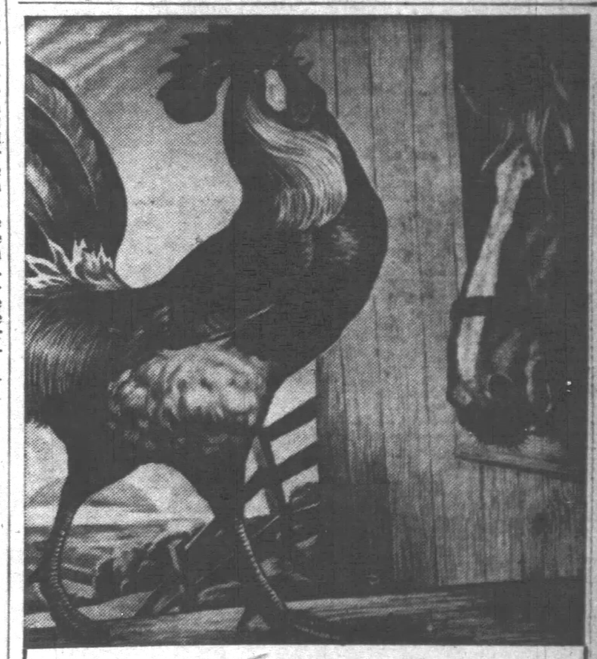

JACKSONVILLE, [AP] Safe robbers hacked open two large safes in the Jenks Restaurant office sometime late Sunday night and made off with what T. W. Jenks, owner, told police probably was more than $5,000. Loss was covered by insurance.

Detective Sgt. S. J. Burkhalter, investigating, said entrance was gained by picking the lock of the office door and hacking open the safes with axe and crowbar.

Most of the money, representing receipts for three days, was contained in a steel box that was kept in the smaller safe.

Life Insurance Companies Ruled Under Congress Control by Court

[International News Service]

Precedent of the past 75 years went by the boards yesterday when the United States Supreme Court boldly scrapped previous decisions and held that life insurance companies may properly be controlled by Congress.

As the nation welcomed official news of the fall of Rome, and awaited a radio broadcast last night from its commander-in-chief, the government's highest court ruled:

[1] Insurance companies are engaged in interstate commerce and [2] therefore are subject to the National Labor Relations Act as well as other Federal statutes governing commerce including the anti-trust laws.

Through its ruling, which came in two separate cases, the court scrapped a 75-year-old decision holding that insurance companies are not engaged in interstate commerce. Yesterday's ruling was expected to spur a Congressional movement that such companies should be placed by law under State rather than Federal control.

Congress, meanwhile, moved decisively to put off for at least another year the court-martial of Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter Short, navy and army commanders at Pearl Harbor at the time of the Japanese sneak attack. The action came amid charges that "higher ups" are afraid of an immediate court-martial.

Sen. Bennett Clark led the attack on a proposal to extend until June 7, 1945, the time limit under which the two commanders may be tried. Just before the Senate approved the measure, Clark bluntly charged that some of the higher-ups are "afarid" of what the defendants might say in their own defense.

Defending the time extension plan, Sen. Carl A. Hatch hinted anew that the whole story of Pearl Harbor may not have been told even yet. "I think," he said, "there are some secrets about Pearl Harbor that the Japs don't know."

Christian Scientists Hold Annual Meet At Mother Church

While holding military might essential to the victory of Allied nations over the anti-Christ claims of injustice and intolerance, The Christian Science Board of Directors yesterday told the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., that freedom is essentially a spiritual gift "to be realized only through spiritual understanding and attainment."

Before an audience of several thousand Christian Scientists essentially local in character due to wartime restrictions upon transportation, the directors cited the universal determination to win the peace as advance evidence of a world-wide realization that "righteous victory under arms will not suffice to guarantee freedom to mankind."

Freedom from want and fear, freedom in worship and speech, the directors stated, constitute much more than a political slogan or governmental ideology, "for our great Way-shower, Christ Jesus, proclaimed centuries ago that freedom accords with God's will and law; furthermore He gave simple, clear direction for the attainment of full freedom for the individual, and through the individual for all humanity."

The directors' statement highlighted reports to the third annual meeting of The Mother Church held under wartime conditions which cited increasing evidence of church growth and activity, and unprecedented demands for the works of Mary Baker Eddy and The Christian Science Monitor. Sales of Mrs. Eddy's works were said to have risen to twice the volume of the last pre-war year, indicating the increasing desire for spiritual progress in the wartime emergency.

At the same time, transportation problems and material shortages were reported to have been surmounted by The Christian Science Publishing Society and The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Two hundred thousand periodicals were estimated to have been delivered and received by Reading Rooms in Great Britain with only seven pieces lost in transit, and occasional copies of Christian Science literature were said to have found their way into some countries of occupied Europe.

Announcement was made by the directors of the appointment of Paul Stark Seeley, of Cambridge, Mass., as president of The Mother Church for the ensuing year, succeeding Mrs. Daisette D. S. McKenzie.

Tracing the growth of the Christian Science movement from the time of the erection of the original edifice of The Mother Church, 50 years next December, to the present day, the new president revealed an increase in the number of branch Christian Science churches from less than 100 a half century ago, located in two countries, to nearly 2,900 today located in 54 countries.

M. the members and candidates for the temple degree will gather on the roof garden of the Angebilt Hotel for a business meeting and the anniversary ceremonial where several Pythians of Central Florida will take the Dokkie degree.

Dr. George M. Peagin, Royal-Vizier of St. Petersburg Dokkie Temple, will head a delegation from that temple to attend the meetings here.

Charles A. West, Royal-Vizier of Adi-Rolf, will have charge and preside over the ceremonial meetings, while Mike Tousaint, captain of the degree team will have charge of the floor work. He has stated that the team was in good training and that a good show would be held, and that the main parts in the ritualistic work would be taken by Lester West, Royal-Vizier; W. E. Clark, Grand Emir; Russell F. Hennis, Saruk; F. E. Seeger, Mokanna; and R. G. Summers, Mahedi; with several others on the teams.

W. O. Powell, Supreme Temple representative and a Royal Prince of Adi-Rolf, said that this Temple was organized in Orlando in 1940 to serve the Pythian Lodges of Central Florida, from which it draws its membership.

'Die Hard' Elements Blocking Prosperity, WPB Chief Declares

DETROIT [UP] Short-sighted "diehard" elements of labor and management are overshadowing the war needs of the nation and impeding changes of a prosperous postwar future, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, told members of the Economic Club of Detroit yesterday.

"Too frequently, narrow group interests have been allowed to overshadow the war needs of the nation," Nelson said. "And unless they are stopped, they will do a grave injury, not only to the nation's production and morale during the war, but also to our chances of a prosperous postwar future."

Here for a day's tour of war production centers and conferences with labor and management, he declared both factions had failed to attempt settlement of disputes "by reasonable methods."

"Powerful elements in both groups have taken a grim, diehard position," he said. "They have forgotten they are on the same team. Instead, they regard themselves as being in a fight against each other. They want to slug it out instead of working for a practical adjustment of their differences, like reasonable men of affairs, and like good Americans."

Nelson reprimanded the Detroit region particularly, saying:

"The very name, Detroit, has begun to suggest labor disputes and strikes which injure war production and spread confusion and irritation among the people and among our armed forces."

He cited the Foreman's Assn. of America strike, in which 65,000 workers in the region were made idle, as "dramatic evidence" of this bad attitude of mind."

The war production chief suggested, as a remedy, that "industrial statesmanship" be applied.

"Industrial statesmanship must bridge the gap between labor and management. When you start to build a bridge, you make best progress if you begin at the same time on both sides and meet in the middle."

Lanier, an attorney, is executive secretary of the Leaf Tobacco Exporters Assn. of America.

Martin, a veteran in labor organizational affairs, is Southeastern representative of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, [AFL].

Joan Ellis Asks Forgiveness For Flashing Invasion Alarm

LONDON, [INS] Joan Ellis, 22-year-old teletype operator whose "practice flash" was blamed by The Associated Press for circulation on Saturday of a false announcement that Allied invasion of France had begun, last night asked America "to forgive me."

The slim, sad-faced English girl, on the verge of tears, was interviewed on the worn brownstone steps of a little middle class late 18th century house in the Camden town district of North London.

"Please tell the American people how sorry I am for that false alarm," she said.

"Ask them please to forgive me. I didn't mean to do it."

"I was just practicing for this invasion day," Miss Ellis said.

"I knew they would want me to be quick with the message then.

"I thought if I typed it out on a machine beforehand I would not be so nervous about doing it when the real message came.

"I typed what I thought the message would read like.

"At the time I was operating a tele-printer machine. You punch out tape which has to be run through another machine before it goes through to New York. I had intended to tear the test message off the tape."

People Will Decide On War Prevention, Leahy Tells Class

MOUNT VERNON, Iowa [INS] Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to Pres. Roosevelt, declared yesterday that he believes the cost of this war in treasure and sorrow has convinced our people of the necessity for effective preventive preparations.

Leahy made the declaration in a speech before the Cornell College commencement class.

"Permanent peace could be achieved if civilized Christian peoples should at the end of this war enter into a solemn agreement to join forces at once in war against any nation that may in the future violate the sovereignty or the territory of any nation," the naval chief asserted.

"Such an agreement would make international war by an aggressor impossible of success."

Sports Parade

MR. TEMPLE MASON has just completed, probably one phase, of the most one-man heroic team of any in the annals of sports promotion. Maybe it hasn't been successful from an attendance standpoint. Who is there to say that Mr. Temple Mason, promoter of wrestling at Legion Home and an Orlando business man, has not programmed and carried through as good wrestling cards as can be seen anywhere?

• • •

THE ATTENDANCE, so far as paying the bill, has not stood the test. So Mr. Mason turns to prize fighting and Friday night will put on a beak-busting program. He tells us he has lined up Stanley Bator and Oris Williams, 126 pounders, for the main go, eight rounds. He will put on 32 rounds of scheduled boxing in all.

"HORSES ARE LIKE HUMANS," Conn McCreary, famous jockey, says. "Each one has a different nature. You've got to treat them right or they won't work for you. Take Pensive for example. He didn't pay any attention to the whip in the Chesapeake, so when the Derby came I didn't whip him and he won in a romp. I got a big kick crossing that finish line first at Churchill Downs. I hope to be a trainer some day and use what I'm learning as a jockey to good advantage.

McCreary

• • •

THAT SOLVES A QUESTION THAT HAS been moot for years. What becomes of the little fellows who ride the horses, known as jockeys, when they can no longer ride in the races? They become trainers, for one thing. Like a ball player, when his active playing days are over many become managers or attempt to become managers, coaches, trainers, etc.

IN SONG, IN PROSE, the name One-Eyed Connolly, has been thrust upon an eager public and his doings for years. Lately, Mr. One-Eyed has not made the sports pages, the front pages and the editorial pages. The old boy has gone to work. He's 75. Know what he's doing. He's a night watchman at an Illinois concern. His job is to keep other guys out. Remember the days when he made the games and never paid a cent? Something more, the old man has 25 war bonds.

FROM LONDON COMES THIS tid-bit anent baseball, as recorded in the London Times: "It may be that in a few years we shall have absorbed all the traditions of baseball, rise in a body to stretch ourselves at the sleepy seventh and write of the game in a language as palpably spirited as it is incomprehensible."

• • •

"TWENTY-TWO YEARS ELAPSED between Rogers Hornsby's first and last games in the majors," writes Tom Lieb in the Sporting News. "He broke in with Miller Huggins' Cardinals as a pink-cheeked Texas boy of 19 in old league park, St. Louis, Sept. 10, 1915, and retired hitting in a pinch for his own Brownie aggregation at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis, in the first game of a Yankee-Brown double-header, July 20, 1937. What a lot of baseball Rogers crammed into those 22 hectic years.

• • •

"BOB CONNERY, SCOUTING for Huggins, saw Hornsby in 1915 in Denison, Texas, while piloting the Cardinal second team through the Texas brush that Spring. He wasn't so much impressed with Hornsby's hitting, but the boy's sparkle and the way he handled himself registered with him. 'He just looked like a ball player,' said Bob. Connery went back for another look, purchased the Class D player for $500 and as the Cardinals were going nowhere in the Fall, Huggins brought Hornsby up for a September look." The rest is baseball history. In 23 seasons in the big leagues he hit an average of .358 each season. He hit safely in 33 consecutive games from Aug. 13 to Sept. 19, 1922 and the record still stands in the National League.

• • •

FROM WASHINGTON COMES this information: "Substantial increases in allotments of shotgun shells to farmers and sportsmen were being sought today [last week] by Rep. Bob Sikes of Crestview and other Southern Congressmen whose constituents are faced with the same critical shortages. Shotgun shell allocations for destruction of pests such as rodents, crows and other animal life destructive to crops, have forced many wholesalers and distributors to cease handling the shells altogether, as the supplies were even too small to set up any practicable from of rationing to retailers. Rep. Sikes said the earlier harvests in his district already were suffering because rodents and crows could not be controlled, and that this problem will be met successively by farmers further north.

• • •

"DEPLETION OF SHOTGUN shell supplies for sportsmen also is affecting seriously game and conservation work in almost all southern States. Rep. Sikes explained that the Florida Game Commission and those of other Southern States are supported almost entirely from revenues derived from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses. The drop in the sale of hunting licenses, from which the salaries of game wardens are paid, seriously has threatened policing of wild life generally.

• • •

"DURING THE 1943 hunting season war production officials promised Rep. Joe Hendricks of DeLand that adequate supplies of shells would be made available for 1944. Rep. Sikes indicated that he believed no action has been taken by WPB in the interim and that he would join with Rep. Hendricks in holding WPB to its pledge. Meanwhile, he said, the allotments for farmers deserved immediate attention."

• • •

THAT'S HEARTENING NEWS. It is up to Rep. Hendricks and Rep. Sikes to see that Florida gets its share; that the distribution is on an equitable basis.

• • •

IT IS AGAINST the law for any person or persons to capture, injure, kill or sell, ship for sale, alligators or their teeth or eggs, in the State of Florida during the months of March, April and May. Recently Dade County petitioned the State Game and Fresh Water Commission to prohibit killing of gators in 18 South Florida counties, the year round.

New York Preens For Big Gridiron Battles

SYRACUSE, N. Y. [AP] A traditional, three-cornered upstate New York football rivalry will be renewed this Fall when Syracuse University returns to the gridiron after a one-year lapse.

Lewis P. Andreas, director of athletics, announcing plans to resume both the gridiron sport and basketball this year, said the 1944 football schedule would be built around games with Cornell and Colgate Universities. Cornell will be met Sept. 23 and Colgate will end the season Nov. 18. Both games will be played here.

Andreas said resumption of the two major sports was prompted by a sharp reduction in army training programs which released the coaching staff and facilities for intercollegiate purposes.

The director indicated that the football schedule will be filled, if possible, with teams representing universities which have a manpower situation similar to that existing at Syracuse with no naval trainees enrolled.

He said that inquiries had been received from several colleges including traditional rivals and some newcomers. Competition among university teams should be fairly well equalized this year, he added, since navy schools are unlikely to have experienced varsity stars who studded the lineups last season.

Bill Hulse To Enter Meet

NEW YORK [UP] Bill Hulse of the New York AC, holder of the American Citizen's Outdoor mile mark of 4:06 yesterday entered the 800-meter and 1,500-meter runs in the National AAU Track and Field championships at Triborough Stadium June 17 and 18.

Attempting a feat performed only five times previously, the last time by Glenn Cunningham in 1933, Hulse appeared a cinch in the 1,500, left undefended by Gil Dodds. But in the 800 he will oppose Johnny Fulton of the San Francisco Olympic Club, Charley Beetham of Columbus, Ohio, and Ed Guice of Prairie View, Texas, College.

BERG READY

NEW YORK [UP] Lt. Patty Berg of the marine corps, Pat Harrington of Steubenville, Ohio, and Dot Germaine of Philadelphia yesterday filed entries for the Women's Red Cross Open golf tournament at Wykagel Country Club June 12 and 13.

Cards-Brown In Spotlight

NEW YORK [AP] St. Louis showed them how it's done in both major leagues with the Cards and Brownies pacing the West to decisive intersectional victories in the second East-West series which ended with Sunday's doubleheader.

Billy Southworth's Red Birds played .615 ball in taking eight of 13 starts as the National invaders captured 28 and lost 24 in their tour of the East, a tabulation yesterday shows.

The New York Yankees and Washington Senators flopped badly on their first long jaunt and not a single Eastern club in the American was able to win as many as it lost.

• • •

Although the Yanks had a two and a half game lead when they headed west, they lost eight and won only five in sinking into second, a game and a half back of the Brownies who took 10 of 15 for a giddy .667 pace.

Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis handed the visitors a bad shellacking, 33 games to 23, only the Indians wailing to manage a .500 clip.

While the Browns took over first, Detroit had a seven-game streak and Chicago spun a six-game skein that has not been broken.

Pre-season dopesters labeled the Eastern clubs as the class of the American League and the West tops in the National. So far, they have been half right. The senior loop has been dominated by St. Louis, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh but the Harridge Circuit has only the McCarthy crew from the East in the first division. Washington, an early choice, plummeted to the cellar by losing two Sunday but the race has been so tight that a couple of ball games could shuffle the standings.

• • •

Only five and a half games separated first from last in the American as all clubs in both loops enjoyed an open date in their schedule. Washington left home in third place and returned in last. Chicago started its home stand in the basement and finished in fourth.

The Cardinals added only a half game to their lead because Pittsburgh and Cincinnati kept pace. The Nationals big surprise was the surge of the New York Giants from sixth into the first division with the help of seven straight wins and a flurry of home runs. The Phils, a surprising contender in the first month, fell from fourth place to seventh, 10 games behind St. Louis.

Maurice Britt Gets High Honor

FAYETTEVILLE, [AP] Capt. Maurice L. [Footsie] Britt returned yesterday to Razorback Stadium where he won acclaim for his football prowess with the University of Arkansas to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroic action in the Italian campaign.

A crowd of 6,000 saw Maj. Gen. Harry J. Collins, commander of the Rainbow Division at Camp Gruber, Okla., place the medal around Britt's neck and heard him praise the handsome infantry officer as "one of the nation's

In a brief speech of acceptance, Capt. Britt said only one other occasion—the celebration of the peace could bring him greater happiness.

He said he accepted the medal on behalf of "the men fighting in Italy and in the Pacific and those poised for the invasion of the Continent."

"The real heroes are the ones who have given their lives for the nation and the ones who are fighting today," he declared modestly.

Count Fleet Is Declared Through

NEW YORK [UP] Count Fleet, the brown velvet lightning rated by many as the greatest horse in the history of the American turf, probably never will go to the post again, it has been revealed.

A leg injury, aggravated as the Hertz Hurricane swept to his sixth straight victory in the Belmont Stakes exactly a year ago, has failed to respond to treatment and once again the Fleet is in drydock.

Don Cameron, the cagey Scot who handles Mrs. John D. Hertz' String, hasn't announced that the colt will be retired. But the clockers, those gents who most of the time know more about a horse than his trainer, feel with a unanimous certainty that Count Fleet is through.

Scott-Nova Fight Is Ruled Draw

OKLAHOMA CITY [AP] The Oklahoma City Athletic Commission yesterday ruled the Buddy Scott-Lou Nova fight here last Friday night, awarded the latter on a 10-round decision, was a draw.

The commission issued a statement in which it said it "is standing behind the judges it appointed and correcting an error of the announcer."

Eddie Sears, Scott's manager, protested the decision being awarded Nova when it was learned one judge and the referee called the match a draw while the other judge awarded the bout to Nova.

However, since Nova won the most rounds when the score cards of the three officials were taken collectively, the announcer awarded the bout to the Californian. The cards showed 12 rounds for Nova, eight for Scott and 10 even.

The reversed decision breaks Nova's string of 11 straight victories on his comeback trail this year.

Fish Tales

About the fungus which sometimes grows [painfully] in swimmers' ears at this time of year:

In the first place, the fungus [or mold] which does the damage is in the AIR and not in the water! The warm lake water, and high temperatures generally at this season, including air temperatures, combine to cause this airborne fungus to grow in the ears of some swimmers. Other swimmers seem immune.

• • •

NOW, THE SAME effect can be produced by filling a human's ears with sterile WARM water, frequently, at this season. In other words, it isn't the lake water at all that does the damage. It's just the air-borne fungus which gets a start in wet ears at high temperatures. The remedy? Don't go in and out of the water so often. Use sense. Don't let children stay in the water very long.

• • •

ALL THIS information is given to us by Fleet Peeples, swimming instructor at Rollins College, Winter Park. Fleet vouches for it. He states, further, that if swimmers will use lamb's wool and vasiline [put the vaseline into the wool] in their ears while swimming these hot days, they won't have any trouble with the fungus. Of "ear plugs" Fleet has this to say: "They are worse than nothing at all—but lamb's wool and vaseline will prevent the trouble."

• • •

PEEPLES HAD an attack of the fungus himself a few days ago. He cured it by using the lamb's wool and vaseline—for he must keep on swimming, every day.

"I cannot over-emphasize the fact that it is the warm water and the way people have of letting children stay in the lakes too long, and staying themselves in the water too long, that causes this air-borne fungus to get started in their ears," Fleet remarked.

• • •

PEEPLES HAS a boy's camp in the mountains of North Carolina and he gave the rather surprising information that up there, too, this fungus sometimes gives trouble during hot spells.

Salt water kills the fungus, so swimmers in salt water are not troubled with it.

All this information is good and timely and it may help prevent serious and painful trouble. Remember: Don't stay in the water long.

Stan Hack To Return to Cubs

CHICAGO, [INS] Stan Hack, veteran third baseman of the Chicago Cubs, will return to the club as soon as he can arrange transportation from his cattle ranch at Monument, Ore., Gen. Mgr. James T. Gallagher announced yesterday.

Gallagher said it might be three or four days "or possibly 10 or 12 days" before Hack joins the team.

Hack retired at the close of last season after signing a 1944 contract.

Whether the veteran will be able to break into the regular lineup of the National League cellar dwellers is problematical. Roy Hughes, another veteran, has been playing a lot of third base for the team and will be tough to replace.

Birdie Tebbetts Has Strong Team

WACO, Texas [AP] Birdie Tebbetts, who knew about baseball farm systems while catching for the Detroit Tigers, has found the arm with one that's both efficient and convenient.

From it he has put together a couple of clubs comparable in ability with the majors. As manager of the nine at Waco Army Air Field, Birdie produced an outfit that won 52 of 62 games and the State semi-pro title last year.

Now he's back with one that looks as good or better; it has taken nine of ten games.

Birdie's "farm system" is the intramural sports program. Tebbetts watches the squadron games and gets plenty of material. His system is more convenient than the kind in the majors because he can just walk across the lot and recruit ball players. No scouting. No waits. No contract troubles.

Miami Tennister To Big Tourneys

MIAMI [AP] Francisco Segura, Ecuadorean tennis star who hopes to rise from third to first rank this year, left yesterday for Detroit to take part in the National Clay Court tournament June 12-18.

Segura, representing the University of Miami where he is a student, will make a 5,000-mile tour before returning, participating in the national championship at Forest Hills, N. Y., the Pacific Southwest event at Hollywood, the Pan American tournament at Mexico City and several other contests.

Kennedy Is Suspended

CLEVELAND [AP] Pitcher Vernon Kennedy of the Cleveland Indians remained "suspended indefinitely" despite a conference yesterday with Mgr. Lou Boudreau.

Charging Kennedy with "insubordination and conduct detrimental to the club," the Cleveland manager imposed the penalty between halves of a double-header with the New York Yankees Sunday.

"Kennedy is still indefinitely suspended and that's all I have to say about it," Boudreau declared after the conference.

The Indian manager added he did not know when the suspension would be lifted but "Kennedy certainly will not leave for St. Louis with the team Wednesday night." The Indians begin a four-game series with the Browns Thursday after three open days.

• • •

Although Boudreau refused to elaborate on the incident which led to the suspension, Kennedy gave his version. The pitcher said he was sent to the bullpen about the seventh inning to get ready but "Harder got out of trouble and I sat down. Then Lou signed for a lefthander and another righthander to get ready so I stayed where I was."

Kennedy said Boudreau approached him after the game and demanded "do you want to pitch?" When he answered, "sure I want to pitch," Kennedy said the manager replied "it doesn't look like it to me. Get dressed and leave the park."

"That's all I know about it. Nobody told me I was suspended or what," the hurler added.

Tigers Release Elon Hogsett

DETROIT [AP] Given his unconditional release by the Detroit American League baseball club, Elon [Chief] Hogsett, veteran pitcher, was en route yesterday to Minneapolis to rejoin the American Assn. Millers.

Hogsett, who finished the season with Minneapolis last year, joined the Tigers this Spring but had been used in only five innings.

Indianapolis Star With Navy

GREAT LAKES [AP] Jim Trexler might have made the major leagues this season but he's in the navy and among big leaguers.

Trexler, who pitched 19 victories while losing 7 games for Indianapolis in the American Assn. last season, is a member of the Great Lakes Bluejackets' nine. His hurling mates include Virgil Trucks, Schoolboy Rowe, Bob Klinger and Bill Brandt, all ex-major leaguers.

Trexler led the Association in the win and earned run columns, parting with only 2.14 runs per nine-inning game. Among his hurling feats were four shutouts, including two three-hitters and one four-hitter.

Lombardi Weds California Girl

NEW CANAAN, Conn. [AP] Ernie Lombardi, New York Giant's catcher, and Miss Berice Marie Ayres, both of Oakland, Calif., were married here yesterday by Probate Judge Lawrence P. Frothingham. He gave his age as 36 and she as 43.

They left for New York City immediately after the brief ceremony.

First Fiddle Is Winner

NEW YORK [UP] Coming from behind in the stretch, Mrs. Edward Mulrenan's First Fiddle scored his fifth straight victory yesterday, heading Tola Rose by two lengths in the 39th running of the $10,000 added Queens County Handicap, which launched the Aqueduct 24-day Spring meeting.

Favored in the mile and a sixteenth fixture for three-year-olds and up, the five-year-old son of Royal Minstrel negotiated the distance in 1:44 1-5 with Johnny Longden up. Bringing his owner a purse of $7,780, he paid his backers $5.20, $3.20 and $2.50.

Tola Rose, owned by Arthur J. Sackett, was a half length in front of Alex Barth and yielded $10.30 and $5.50, while Alex Barth paid $4.10. Bousett set the pace through the stretch turn, but finished fifth, a length and a half in the rear of King's Abbey.

An inaugural crowd of 25,553 clicked $2,259,306 through the mutuel machines, as Aqueduct made an early bid to surpass the record daily average of $2,406,700 bet at the Belmont meeting, which closed Saturday.

Second choice in the six furlong sprint, the five-year-old took command in the stretch to lead the favored Tetra Rock by a length and a half, going the distance in 1:10 3-5. The victor paid $6.60, $3.40 and $2.20, while Tetra Rock netted $3 and $2.20 for second and Royal Flush, another three lengths back, paid $2.20.

Winter Park Teams Ready

WINTER PARK—The older men will attempt to turn youngsters again—taking on the Boy Scouts softball team here Thursday night at 8:15.

The schedule calls for the Kiwanis softball team to play the younger men, and already the oldsters are practicing secretly at least in the backyards, for the big game.

Proceeds of the game, which will be played on Harper-Shepherd Field, will go the Boy and Girl Scouts of this city and the underprivileged children club of the Kiwanis Club. The admission price has been set at 25 cents, including tax.

The game is being ballyhooed in a big way, and when big Kiwanian of this district, Lloyd Gahr of Orlando was here last night, he promised the Kiwanis Club a large attendance from Orlando.

Landis Stone will umpire, while Carroll Ward will captain the Kiwanis team and Rex Anderson the Scout team.

Army ordnance gun are so accurate that they can lay artillery shells on a bedsheet at 3,00 yards.

Men's Loop To Be Active

Tonight, the Class A Men's Softball League will resume play at the Exposition Park field with two games on the schedule.

In the first game, the Enlisted Men will take on the AAFTAC Officers. Chandler will no doubt do the tossing for the Officers and will be opposed by Grabianowski, for the Enlisted team.

The second game will find the two civilian teams, Denmark and Bumby, meeting. Either Swafford or Hayes will be on the mound for Bumby, while Mgr. Mickey Powers, will have to choose between either Hall or Wolf, for the Denmark boys.

Friday night, the men will again take the field, with the AAFTAC Officers meeting Bumby in the first game and the Enlisted Men taking on Denmark in the nightcap.

The first half of the men's league will end June 16, with the second half scheduled to get underway on June 27.

Speaking of league schedules closing, the girls' have ended their first half and there will be no girls' games at Exposition Park this week.

The first half championship was won by the Orlando Transit team, with the WACs and Purcell tieing for second place. This was the first year in the girls' play that not one of the first half games had to be postponed due to rain or any other cause. The first half was run off just about perfectly.

Startihg the second half play next Monday night, Louis' will meet Transit in the first game at 7:45, while Purcell and the WACs battle it out at 9.

On Sept. 13, 1933, the thermometer registered 136.6 degrees at Azibia, Tripoli. The same year, the temperature was 134 in Death Valley.

Grid Officials Are Getting Set

ATLANTA [AP] The Southern Football Officials Assn., yesterday joined a group of Southeastern Conference football coaches in recommending that the conference renew an officiating contract that expired last December.

Action on the matter is scheduled at a meeting of the conference presidents in Birmingham, June 16.

George Gardner, Atlanta, announced yesterday that the officials' executive committee in a special meeting here Sunday approved the contract renewal recommendations made by the coaches at Louisville, Ky., last March, and asked that "a committee be appointed by the presidents of the Southeastern Conference and the Southern Football Officials Assn., to draw up suitable working details essential to success of the plan."

Jack Britton Miami Fireman

MIAMI [AP] Jack Britton, former world welterweight boxing champion, has become a fireman at the Miami Air Depot.

His wife and daughter-in-law also are employed there.

Britton gave up the drug store he operated here for 18 years to take the depot job.

"Running a store is not very interesting these days when there is important work to do," he explained. "I expect shortly to know as much about firefighting as I do about ring fighting."

Britton's son, Bobby, who uses the family's real name of Breslin, is a petty officer in charge of the Miami Naval Air Station boxing team which has won 12 straight contests.

Pitfalls Of Nocturnal Baseball Pointed Out

By JOE WILLIAMS

NEW YORK — Inspired by the mounting number of night baseball games in the majors, and melancholy comments on same in this space, Andy Anderson, energetic press box pundit of Houston, takes typewriter in lap and writes to this effect:

• • •

"You're dead right. The majors had better watch their step. I remember when we started night baseball in the Texas League. In due time it practically killed day baseball. Even Saturday games were called off to provide a double-header — a double-header, mind you—under the lights. Presently night baseball began to lose its appeal and the club owners introduced two ladies' nights a week. The result of this was the customers stayed away from the other night games. Finally, most of the club owners dropped the only good day attraction they had left, the Sunday game, and started playing that one at night, too. You can see how the thing grows and how it hurts. What the club owners failed to recognize is that they had a field all to themselves, the afternoon field, but when they moved into the night field they were competing with the movies, the radio-program-the-family - nevermisses, bridge parties, etc. It is my opinion night baseball did more to make a weak sister of the Texas League than any other factor."

Here are some automobile notes which appeared in Leslie's Weekly issued Nov. 16, 1905. They come from a correspondent whose name, unfortunately, we have misplaced.

• • •

"Athens, Greece, has only 12 automobiles and three of these belong to the King and the Princes. The King's is a luxurious affair and cost him 20,000 francs. The one owned by Prince Andreas was presented to him by the Czar of Russia."

• • •

"Col. John Jacob Astor owns 20 automobiles certainly worth not less than $100,000, that cost him $15,000 to maintain yearly which includes the hiring of his operators, fuel and repairs."

• • •

"'No wonder the farmers on Long Island are no longer opposed to the Vanderbilt Road Race. Farmer Wicks who rented the privileges for the grandstand and parking spaces at the start and finish of the race in front of his Mineola farm, has invested the gross proceeds in a new motor car. Thus, the farmer sows his seed, and thus the farmer becomes a motorist, indeed."

• • •

"The American Motor League is putting up danger signs in many parts of the country where steep hills, narrow roadways and dangerous crossings call for reduced speed."

NEW YORK (AP) "Selling on the good news," a long-established custom in Wall Street, gave yesterday's stock market a definitely lower tilt.

While the fall of Rome was highly encouraging to the financial sector, this eventuality apparently had been well discounted by the recent average price advance to a five-year peak. Sentiment was dimmed to some extent by the Supreme Court fire insurance company ruling which held these concerns operated in interstate commerce and were subject to anti-trust laws. Profits, consequently, were cashed all along the line by those who, while bullish for the long pull, hoped for more favorable buying opportunities. Belief corporate securities would be neglected during the coming Fifth War Loan drive was a restraining factor.

Trends began to waver after a fairly steady start and leaders generally were down fractions to more than a point at the close. Low-priced motors, most of which got nowhere, accounted for most of the activity.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .3 of a point at 52.9, widest dip since May 12. Transfers totaled 858,990 shares versus 819,300 in the preceding full session.

Park & Tilford was one of the few heavier issues, dropping 4¾ ponts. Lesser casualties were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Schenley, Texas Co., Johns-Manville, United Aircraft, Kennecott, Deere and U. S. Gypsum. American & Foreign Power 7 per cent preferred was up 2⅛ on reorganization optimism but the company's common, on fears it may fail to participate in a new setup, fell to 3¼, off ¾ at a new 1944 bottom.

Reorganization rail bonds backed away. At Chicago wheat was off ⅛ to ⅞ of a cent a bushel. New York cotton advanced 75 to 97 cents a bale.

Laggards in the curb included Aluminum of America, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Carrier Corp., Electric Bond & Share and American Light. Turnover here was 224,365 shares versus 191,285 Friday.

Australia Supplies Most of U. S. Food In South Pacific

WASHINGTON (AP) Australia under reverse lend-lease is supplying 95 per cent of the food consumed by American forces in the Southwest Pacific, Prime Min. John Curtin told a National Press Club luncheon yesterday.

While asserting that food represented Australia's principal contribution under the reciprocal aid program, Curtin added that his country provided a wide variety of goods and services ranging from soldiers' clothing to the assembly of bombers for the Army Air Corps.

He placed its aggregate value at $519,675,000 and said $155,350,000 of that amount was provided in the last five months. He said the sum represented 18 per cent of Australia's war expenditure, compared with 14 per cent of this country's war costs diverted to lend-lease.

Stressing the part he said Australian food was playing in Allied war plans, the Prime Minister said his government had placed food production "in the same category as munitions in order to achieve maximum production.

Rep. Clark Scores Roosevelt Critics For Impeding Effort

WASHINGTON (AP) Rep. Clark accused "some people" in the House yesterday of greater interest in getting Mr. Roosevelt out of the White House than "getting Hitler out of Berlin" and the Republican minority, after resounding boos, promptly challenged the statement.

The remark and the acrimonious exchange that ensued came in connection with debate on a measure extending the time for prosecution of the prewar Pearl Harbor commanders on charges of dereliction of duty when the Japanese struck.

Clark objected that the Congress should not "direct" courts-martial when it extends the statute of limitations as the bill now provides. He said it should not issue a "peremptory instruction."

"Many on the minority side will be disappointed if they do not find anything wrong with the conduct of the war," Clark said.

"There are too many who would rather see Pres. Roosevelt put out of the White House than see Hitler put out of Berlin."

Rep. Fish promptly declared that he did not know of any speech made recently more calculated to "create disunity."

"The army and the navy are made up of Republicans and Democrats," Fish shouted. "To give the impression that anyone is trying to throw monkey wrenches into the war effort is both unfair and untrue."

Church to Observe Delivery at Rome

LONDON (AP) A Te Deum for deliverance will be sung in all the Roman Catholic Churches in England and Wales next Sunday on the order of the Archbishop of Westminster.

Announcing the service, the Archbishop said yesterday "The city of the Vicar of Christ has been spared the worst horrors of modern warfare which threatened so long. We are grateful to our Allied leaders and to our service men for the courage and caution and humanity with which they have set Rome free. The whole Catholic and civilized world rejoices."

Second Service Command officers said the soldiers will be taken immediately to Halloran General Hospital, Staten Island.

Besides the Americans, 37 Canadian soldiers and 35 civilians, citizens of South and Central America, were listed aboard the ship. The Canadians will remain aboard the Gripsholm, which is scheduled to take them to Canada, the army announced.

Coal Supply Short

WASHINGTON, (UP) Solid Fuels Admr. Harold Ickes said yesterday that the nation had little more than a month's supply of soft coal in stock piles on May 1—the "smallest protection" against emergency since Pearl Harbor.

Stocks totaled 50,519,000 tons on that date, Ickes said, adding that present estimates indicate that bituminous coal production will be about 30,000,000 tons short of meeting next Winter's needs.

Ickes reported, however, that soft coal production for the week ended May 27 increased to 12,550,000 as compared to 12,300,000 tons in the preceding week. Anthracite production for the week ended May 27 totaled 1,369,000 tons, an increase of 64,000 tons over the preceding week.

Four Brand New Prewar Tires Lost in Flames in Garage Fire

Four brand new pre-war tires went up in flames yesterday noon when the combination garage and storehouse belonging to George Busby at Bumby and Peel Sts., caught fire.

The structure caught on fire, the fire department reported, from a kerosene heater that was lighted to heat water for the laundry. Before the fire trucks could get to the outlying property, the roof had fallen in and their attempts to save the building were futile.

The estimated damage to the building was said by Chief Maxie Bennett to be about $3,000. Also lost in the fire was a pre-war washing machine, and approximately $2,000 worth of furniture that was stored in the building.

Barbara M. Mosely, widow of Lt. Col. Eugene L. Mosely, has purchased the home at 280 Fawsett Rd. in Forest Hills from Joseph P. Drake and Maleta L. Drake.

Drake is an official of the newly chartered National Standard Insurance Co., and was a former resident of Atlanta.

The eight-room house overlooking Lake Sue, was sold for $15,500, according to papers filed in the office of Clarence M. Gay, Clerk of the County Court.

The transaction was handled through the offices of Robert Tyre, real estate agent.

The coroner's inquest for investigation into the fatal shooting of Riley M. Brooks will be held today at 2:30 P. M. in the assembly room on the third floor of the court house.

H. B. S. Hammond will be attorney for Rose Juanice Brooks, defendant.

Andrews Tells Jaycees Of Special Studies On World Peace Plan

U. S. Senator Charles O. Andrews stated yesterday at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce that he was making a special study of plans for the coming peace and that he would speak before the club sometime in the future on that subject.

Tying in with his postwar plans he said he had looked into the work of building the biggest army and navy in the world and the most expedient means of bringing the boys home as soon as possible.

"By the end of the year we will have 100 airplane carriers and we are going to Tokyo with them," said Sen. Andrews.

Eldridge Hart, Winter Park attorney and district chairman of the State Welfare Board, outlined the needs for the protection of the children who will be dependent upon county and State bureaus as an immediate result of the war.

"The impact of the war has left us a tremendous burden of dependent children. It is imperative that we think in terms of the next generation," he said.

He continued to point out the havoc that the war is bringing into the American home, and said, "there are more delinquent parents than delinquent children."

He also lauded in his talk the work of the Central Index Service and said that we can take pride in that system and organization. It provides a coordinating medium for whatever needs are discovered among our children whose care has fallen upon the State and county.

The program was concluded with three songs by Miss Wilma Garren, mezzo-soprano, and several accordion solos by Wayne Estey, winner of the Tiger Den talent night.

Art Karst, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting.

Rep. Luce Astounds With New Hair-Do

WASHINGTON, [AP] Rep. Clare Boothe Luce reported for work yesterday with another new hair-do.

Mrs. Luce stuck to her "school marm" coiffure ever since last Summer's recess, just like she said she would. So it was something of a thunderbolt yesterday when she sat down on the Democratic side of the aisle, with this new hair arrangement.

Her blonde tresses were braided and joined on top of her head, giving a sort of classic Grecian effect.

But that isn't all. A capital society column said yesterday that she turned up at Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury's Sunday wearing "the same hat" as two other women.

Orlandoans to Attend State TB Conference, Held in Jacksonville

Many prominent persons affiliated with tuberculosis and health work in Orange County left here yesterday to attend the annual conference of the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Assn. being held in Jacksonville June 6 and 7 at the Seminole Hotel.

The conference has been streamlined this year due to government restrictions on travel and hotel space. Many prominent leaders in tuberculosis work will take part in the war conference. The first session opens at 9:30 A. M Tuesday and will adjourn Wednesday at noon.

Emphasis will be placed on the work to be done in the prevention of tuberculosis in war time. All phases of tuberculosis work will be discussed by physicians, tuberculosis workers, educators, public health officers and the many volunteers comprising the committees of the 54 local tuberculosis associations throughout the State of Florida.

Among those attending the conference from Orange County will be: Dr. R. D. Thompson, Dr. Duncan T. McEwan, Dodd Pace, Mrs. Duncan T. McEwan, Mr. C. L. Durrance, Dr. W. P. Rice, Mrs Anna Lovell, Miss Hope King, Mrs. Allie Jones, Mrs. Rachel Kent and Miss Madge Bartlett.

Births, Deaths Drop

A marked decline in the rate of births and deaths in the city for the month of May over that of the same period in 1943 was noted yesterday in the office of Ed McDowell, City Clerk.

The records reveal that there were 19 less deaths this past month and 23 fewer births.

During the month there were 92 births and 51 deaths recorded in the clerk's office.

Pocket Trouble Costs Orlandoan His Greenbacks

Real estate agents must be getting as rich as Croesus judging by the amount of bills that Kelly Parrish dropped on the streets of Orlando last week.

Parrish discovered a small hole in his pocket through which he had lost a dime and took the pants to his wife to fix. Mrs. Parrish fixed it all right. She simply ripped the entire seam out and Parrish had no pocket at all.

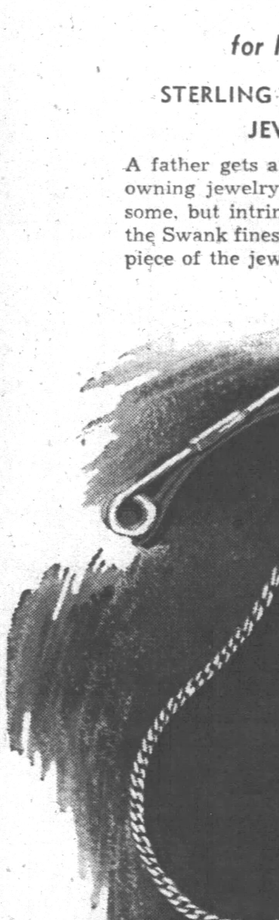

The unsuspecting man went into a smoke shop to get a $25 check cashed and deposited the money in the pocket. To his horror he reached in the same pocket to pay for some things his wife had bought in a dime store a few minutes later and discovered the void that used to be a pocket.

He cashed another check and decided to play detective. He put it in the same place and watched to see what would happen to this $25. He took a few steps and found out. He picked up the bills that had oozed down his pants leg and put them in the good pocket without stopping to count them.

Soon his wife saw more bills slipping from the offending pocket. All the money had not dropped at once.

"If it hadn't been for me he probably would have lost more money," exclaimed Mrs. Parrish.

Can that "younger look" be restored?

Only Cream Containing ACTIVOL*

Now . . . in many cases, yes! For Science has made a revolutionary discovery. Doctors have found there is a "vitalizing" substance that is always necessary for a pretty young skin. Naturally as this substance decreases with age, skins start to dry and look older. But now the ENDOCREME laboratories have found how to bring a counterpart of this substance . . . replacing the natural substance of your skin. It is called ACTIVOL* and brought to you only by ENDOCREME. Results of its use are remarkable! Skins which lacked this substance begin to look smoother, firmer, fresher again! Many skins take on new appearance of "bloom."
